Lot Note(s): A rare "flat-print" proof for a proposed "3-D" edition, not intended for sale or distribution. Rizzi was an American pop artist who was born and raised in Brooklyn, New York. While at the University of Florida he came up with the idea of 3D multiples now mostly associated with his name. Having taken classes in painting, printmaking, and sculpture, he had to hand in grade work for all three subjects, but only had time for doing one. So he created an etching, printed it twice, handcolored it, and mounted parts of the one print on top of the other, using wire as a means of adding depth. Printer unknown, edition published by John Szoke Editions, New York. [27753-6-800]

Our example is undoubtedly one of the few signed Hara posters, very scarce in their own right. The printing quality is absolutely superb. Image © Licensed by VAGA, New York, NY. [26574-5-1600]

Lot Note(s): The legendary, iconic, and famous poster of two of the greatest artists of the latter part of the 20th Century, perhaps the most poignant and enduring image of the 1980's NYC art scene. We could locate only 11 sales of this poster in the past 28 years, with only five of these being signed. The auction record for a signed example is $6,600 at Christie's New York, May 1, 2007, lot #839. The image is by Michael Halsband. The show displayed the collaborative paintings that Warhol and Basquiat worked on from 1984-1985. These works were the culmination of their friendship, one which began in the late 70's. Eventually, the two began work on the paintings that would constitute the bulk of this exhibition. But the process was not without conflict. Warhol, whose work ethic was legendary, grew frustrated with Basquiat's erratic appearances and the two worked very little on the paintings at the same time. The show was a financial and critical failure and marked the end of their friendship. The full title of the poster is: "Tony Shafrazi * Bruno Bischofberger Present: Warhol * Basquiat Paintings, September 14 through October 19, 1985, 163 Mercer Street, New York.". [27961-3-3000]

In 1929, four of his prints were accepted by the Shunyokai Exhibition, which bolstered his confidence in the new medium. 812: ANDY WARHOL - Triple Elvis

USD 2,750 - 3,500

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Triple Elvis". Original color silkscreen & lithograph. Printed 1970. Signed in black marker, center left; stamped verso. Edition of c200. Thick cream wove paper. The full sheet. Fine impression. Fine condition. Overall size: 11 3/8 x 8 1/4 in. (289 x 210 mm). Lot Note(s): This rare silkscreen was published as part of the Warhol portfolio of eight prints which was included in the publication/portfolio "Artists & Photographs" published by Multiples, Inc., New York City, in association with Colorcraft Inc., NYC in 1970. The publication consists of a cardboard box containing artist's publications, multiples, artist's books, etc. by Warhol, Rauschenberg, Ruscha, Nauman, Gormley, Christo, Lewitt, and others. The stated edition size was 1,200 but as Peter Gidal indicates "...rumors abound that the art-box never got made in more than 800 copies, but even the origination gallery can no longer verify it. What is certain is that no "extra" copies of any of the multiples were made, and that the Gormley was in an edition of 200 and the Rauschenberg in an edition of 400. This substantiated the fact that complete boxes could never have been more than 200." Warhol's contributions were printed in different sizes, scales, and mediums. Our example is stamped verso "File Copy - Colorcraft Inc. - Please Return" indicating that it came from the Colorcraft archives. No auction records located. The printing was derived from a high-resolution negative produced with Polaroid Type 105 Positive/Negative film. The company gave cameras plus a generous stock of film to leading photographers of the day. Their output was then published by the Polaroid Corporation. 820: YVES KLEIN - Timbre bleu

USD 2,500 - 3,000

Yves Klein (French, 1928-1962). "Timbre bleu". IKB pigment on postage stamp. Composed 1957-1959. Edition unknown. Fine condition. Provenance: The stamp was originally a gift of the artist to the head of the design department for printed matter and catalogs for the Moderna Museet, Stockholm, Sweden in the late fifties and early sixties. Bengtsson Fine Art, Sweden, acquired them from this employee and they then were purchased at artnet.com. Overall size: 1 x 3/4 in. (25 x 19 mm). Lot Note(s): Klein Timbre Bleu stamps are rare and individual stamps have sold at auction as high as $11,930 (€9,000) (Piasa, Paris, 01/21/2014, lot #94). Effectively Yves Klein paintings in miniature, these stamps are from a series Klein made in 1957 by painting blocks of blank stamps with what was to become his signature, the patented blue pigment officially registered as IKB, or "International Klein Blue". The blue stamps were created for mailing invitations to the opening of two pivotal exhibitions, in May 1957, at the Galerie Iris Clert Gallery and the Galerie Colette Allendy Gallery, both in Paris. The postal authorities were cajoled by Klein into accepting the stamps as if they were actual postage stamps printed by the French government, and they delivered all of the invitations. Klein's handmade blue stamps thus formed an important part of the "performance" that every Yves Klein gallery opening entailed (in addition to being a venue, in the conventional sense, for introducing Klein's latest work to the public). Klein continued to use the stamps for two years following their 1957 introduction. Image copyright © Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York / ADAGP, Paris. [29883-1-1600]

Lot Note(s): From the 'Ten Works x Ten Painters' portfolio, published by Wadsworth Atheneum and printed by Ives-Sillman. In a communication on April 23, 2013, from Ann Brandwein, Assistant Archivist, Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art, she notes: "Sam Wagstaff [of the Wadsworth Atheneum] called Stuart Davis directly in July 1963, because Edith Halpert, Davis's dealer, was away for the summer. Wagstaff informed Halpert on July 22 that 'he [Davis] seems amenable to being in the portfolio. He has not been feeling too well so had not been able to do anything on the design, but, as we will postpone publication a bit now anyway, this does not really matter.' Wagstaff had approached Ives-Sillman Printers in New Haven, CT, in February 1963 about producing the portfolio, but it was not until May 1964 that this arrangement was finalized. In this communication, Wagstaff notes that Davis may be late with his work. Davis died unexpectedly from a stroke on June 24, 1964. On Friday, July 10, Wagstaff brought two Davis works to Ives-Sillman. These had arrived at the Atheneum from Halpert's Downtown Gallery on July 3. The two works were #36 Standard Brand #2, 1962, casein and #138 Thermos, 1962. Si Sillman wrote Wagstaff on July 15, 'The two Davis' are now with me. Both are excellent and either would add a superb touch to your book. I'm almost sorry I said anything to you on the phone the other day because you're going to think that that is the only reason I prefer to keep the one which I believe we both prefer (orange, green, red, black and white) the size that it is. First, I like very much the white around it (border) - for me, it needs the large amount of white. Second, I wonder about enlarging the writing when you enlarge the whole thing - I suspect he would have made an adjustment. Well, you decide, But, I must say, you were very lucky to get such good ones.' It should be noted that Sirocco Screenprints of North Haven, CT, was also involved in the production of the prints, in a role that seems subsidiary to Ives-Sillman. But Sirocco was not a subcontractor of the latter, because they billed the Atheneum directly. Roselle Davis approved the inclusion of Thermos, 1962, in the portfolio on November 6, 1964, even though the work had been at the printers since July. The Atheneum's press release and the local paper announced that the publication date for the portfolio would be December 15, 1964. A complete set was on display at the museum at the time of the press release. There is a note/announcement from Wagstaff on January 12, 1965, explaining that the entire portfolio had been delayed because of technical difficulties with one of the silk screen designs, but he hoped it would be ready within a few weeks. By mid March 1965 The Downtown Gallery had received two portfolios and ten Stuart Davis proofs. Toward the end of the year, the Wadsworth Atheneum decided to break up ten of the portfolios and sell the works individually [for $15 each]." Image copyright © Licensed by VAGA, New York, NY. Rockwell is most famous for the cover illustrations of everyday life scenarios he created for "The Saturday Evening Post" magazine for more than four decades. This image was painted for the cover of the 'Saturday Evening Post,' December 29, 1956. It is also known as 'Discovering Santa,' 'Bottom Drawer,' and 'The Truth about Santa.' The 'Saturday Evening Post' published a Rockwell Christmas cover every year from 1919 through 1948, and its appearance on America's newsstands was an annual tradition. Rockwell's twenty-nine Christmas covers comprise a major chapter in the artist's career. But when he contributed this design in 1956 he had not proposed a Christmas cover in eight years. Rockwell had actually intended this scene of disillusionment (another theme the artist had previously interpreted) for a fall publication date, but the Post's editors held it for the December holiday. It would be his final Christmas cover. Image copyright © The Norman Rockwell Estate / © SEPS: Licensed by Curtis Publishing, Indianapolis, Indiana. [27978-6-800]

In his art, Wyeth's favorite subjects were the land and people around him, both in his hometown of Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania, and at his summer home in Cushing, Maine. One of the best-known images in 20th-century American art is his painting, "Christina's World," currently in the collection of the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. [27974-3-400]

862: ROY LICHTENSTEIN - Taittinger Champagne Brut Bottle with box and tag

USD 3,000 - 4,000

Roy Lichtenstein (American, 1923-1997). "Taittinger Champagne Brut Bottle with box and tag [vintage 1985, released 1990]". Screenprint on blue polyester form encasing the glass bottle. Composed 1986. 863: KASIMIR MALEVICH - Suprematist Composition

USD 25,000 - 30,000

Kasimir Malevich (Russian, 1879 - 1935). "Suprematist Composition [with black square]". Gouache, watercolor, and pen & ink on paper. Composed c1915. Signed with the initials, lower right. Painted on cream wove paper. Very good to fine condition. Overall size: 7 1/2 x 5 1/2 in. (190 x 140 mm). Lot Note(s): Malevich works in any medium are highly sought after and are quite rare at auction. The paintings of the Russian avant-garde have, in general, elicited two types of interpretation: one focuses on issues of technique and style; the other concentrates on social and political issues. The former method is usually applied to Kazimir Malevich's early paintings, grounded as they are in the forms of Cubism, Futurism, and other contemporaneous art movements; the latter largely avoids Malevich in favor of more politically engaged artists such as El Lissitzky, Aleksandr Rodchenko, and Vladimir Tatlin. From the formalist's standpoint, our present example offered here in this auction is, in its mastery of shapes, a perfect example of his newly created Russian style, Suprematism. [29915-1-16000]

864: ANDY WARHOL - Superman

USD 1,200 - 1,500

Lyon, France: Les amis du Musee de l'Imprimerie, 2018, Section 8c, no. 36(d); cf. Feldman/Schellmann II.260. Overall size: 6 7/8 x 6 7/8 in. (175 x 175 mm). Image size: 6 7/8 x 6 7/8 in. (175 x 175 mm). Lot Note(s): Another impression of this announcement sold for $2,375 (including premium) on April 28, 2015, at Doyle New York, lot #197. 865: ARMIN LANDECK - Sunset Palace Lodge

USD 300 - 400

Armin Landeck (American, 1905 - 1984). "Sunset Palace Lodge". Drypoint. Composed 1938. Signed, dated, and editioned in pencil. Edition of 100. Pale cream wove paper. Full margins (deckle edges). 866: PABLO PICASSO - Suite de 180 dessins de Picasso

USD 3,000 - 4,000

Pablo Picasso (Spanish, 1881 - 1973). "Suite de 180 dessins de Picasso". Color lithograph. Composed 1954. Signed in pencil, lower right. White wove paper. Wide margins. Fine impression. Good condition; some handling marks and minor creases. Literature/catalogue raisonne: cf. Czwiklitzer 78 (1970 ed.); cf. Czwiklitzer 89 (1981 ed.); cf. Rodrigo 26. Overall size: 26 3/8 x 20 1/16 in. (670 x 510 mm). Image size: 24 x 15 3/4 in. (610 x 400 mm). Lot Note(s): Rare when signed, rarer yet if our premise as follows is correct. According to both Czwiklitzer and Rodrigo, the edition of 1,000 was issued in two sizes. They both list the larger size as 70 x 47cm; Czwiklitzer catalogues the smaller size as 61 x 39.5cm, whereas Rodrigo states 61 x 40cm. Neither indicates the edition size of each. We have located 15 sales of this poster in the past 25 years; apparently only two sales were of the larger size. In two of the remaining 13 sales (Bonham's, London on 10/02/2006, lot #432), and Jeschke, Hauff, van Vliet, Berlin, on 11/19/2005, lot #462), the auction house catalogued the edition as 125 and as the smaller size image (Bonhams stating that the image was printed to the sheet edges), leading one to believe the larger size edition might have been 875. Furthermore, Rodrigo states that, in addition to the size, the two print runs "also differed in that one carried the following text at the top: 'pour le paraitre le 15 le de octobre de 1954'" [to be published on the 15 of October 1954]. He does not state if this text was on the larger or smaller version. The Bonham's sale of the smaller version (v.s.) bears this text. A Bonham's sale of 03/26/2007 was of the larger version, did not bear the text, and had margins. It would appear then that only the smaller version bears the text, with the edition size being 125. The images reproduced in both the Czwiklitzer and Rodrigo catalogues are of the larger version, with margins, and without text. However, our larger version does bear the text. As such, it appears to be an unrecorded proof of the larger version with text, perhaps a unique example. Poster created (and exhibition held) during Picasso's lifetime, with Picasso authorizing its printing. Printed by Mourlot, Paris. Image copyright © Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York. 867: TSUKIOKA YOSHITOSHI - Study for Woodcut #09

USD 800 - 1,000

Tsukioka Yoshitoshi (Japanese, 1839-1892). "Study for Woodcut #09". Pen and ink drawing. Composed c1880s. Translucent Gambi (Washi/Rice/Mulberry) paper affixed at the corners to a semi-opaque, handmade, laid paper. Composed with black and cinnebar inks. Very good condition; the black spots visible on the jpg are on the support sheet, not the drawing, the Gambi paper being translucent. Provenance: Wittenborn Art Books, New York City. Overall size: 10 3/4 x 7 3/8 in. (273 x 187 mm). Image size: 9 7/8 x 6 in. (251 x 152 mm). Lot Note(s): Drawings by Yoshitoshi are very scarce. This drawing came from a hand bound album of drawings and sketches, with Yoshitoshi's name and date inscribed, not in his hand, on the first leaf (please see images). The date is written "the 27th year of Meiji period, Oct. 10th." The 27th year of the Meiji is the year 1894, two years after the Artist's death. The album is hand bound and had many blank pages. In addition, the final non-blank pages are colored around the drawings with cinnabar, clearly by the artist. Hence while the album could have been assembled after his death, the more likely probability is that it was bound by the Artist and became a working album, which he continually added to over the years. He is also known as Taiso Yoshitoshi, Yoshitoshi Taiso, and Tsukioka Kinzaburo Yoshitoshi. [25338-2-600]

908: ANDY WARHOL - Self-Portrait (Fright Wig)

USD 35,000 - 40,000

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Self-Portrait (Fright Wig)". Acrylic and ink on paper. Composed 1986. Signed lower right. Unique. Fine condition with bold orange color. Overall size: 11 3/8 x 7 9/16 in. (289 x 192 mm). Lot Note(s): "Warhol's ghostly portrait emerges from a seemingly infinite black void. The artist's decision to wear a black turtleneck allows for his neck, shoulders and torso to disappear, focusing the attention on his sunken features. His skull-like face, gaunt and boney, wears an impenetrable, piercing stare that is juxtaposed by the electricity of his wig." 909: ANDY WARHOL - Self-Portrait

USD 3,000 - 4,000

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Self-Portrait [print]". Original color offset lithograph. Printed 1970. Signed in black marker, lower right. Edition of c200. Medium weight light cream coated wove paper. The full sheet. Fine impression. Fine condition. Overall size: 9 1/8 x 9 3/16 in. (232 x 233 mm). Lot Note(s): This rare print was published as part of the Warhol portfolio of eight prints which was included in the publication/portfolio "Artists & Photographs" published by Multiples, Inc., New York City, in association with Colorcraft Inc., NYC in 1970. The publication consists of a cardboard box containing artist's publications, multiples, artist's books, etc. by Warhol, Rauschenberg, Ruscha, Nauman, Gormley, Christo, Lewitt, and others. The stated edition size was 1,200 but as Peter Gidal indicates "...rumors abound that the art-box never got made in more than 800 copies, but even the origination gallery can no longer verify it. What is certain is that no "extra" copies of any of the multiples were made, and that the Gormley was in an edition of 200 and the Rauschenberg in an edition of 400. This substantiated the fact that complete boxes could never have been more than 200." Warhol's contributions were printed in different sizes, scales, and mediums. Our example is stamped verso "File Copy - Colorcraft Inc. - Please Return" indicating that it came from the Colorcraft archives. No auction records located. 913: STEVE WHEELER - Seafarers

USD 1,200 - 1,500

Steve Wheeler (American, 1912 - 1992). "Seafarers [turquoise]". Color etching. Composed c1940. Signed "Wheeler" in pencil, lower right. Edition size unknown (perhaps never editioned, with only a few proofs pulled). Cream wove paper. Wide margins. Fine impression with pronounced platemark. Very good to fine condition; printed slightly off-center; would be fine save a few ink smudges in the margins. Overall size: 7 x 9 in. (178 x 229 mm). Lot Note(s): Wheeler's prints in woodcut and etching are rare. 'Gordon's Print Prices' lists only his silkscreens – not a single woodcut or etching. He is often spoken of as one of the least appreciated, but most deserving, of 20th Century American artists. The influence of Arshile Gorky on Wheeler's oeuvre is often overlooked. His work is increasingly being "discovered," as evidenced by the sale of his painting "W22 (Man Looking at Pork Chop)" at Christie's New York, 05/21/2008, lot #8, at $109,000 (including premium). There has been recent increasing interest in his fine prints as well. Image copyright © The Estate of Steve Wheeler. [30115-1-800]

Image size: 22 7/8 x 22 3/4 in. (581 x 578 mm). Lot Note(s): A well preserved impression of the folded invitation that Warhol created for his first museum exhibition. "The exhibition was organized for the Philadelphia ICA [Institute of Contemporary Art] by its new curator, Sam Green, who until a few months earlier had been a frequenter of Warhol's Factory and a young gallery director at Dick Bellamy's legendary Green Gallery in New York. That Green and the gallery had the same name was purely coincidental, but Green was happy to let people think he owned the place and the famously shy Bellamy didn't mind either if it meant he was called upon less often to leave his back office and schmooze with the clientele. Green's gregariousness, combined with the impression he gave of being a young gallery owner, rather than mere employee, allowed him to advance quickly in art and society circles and this in turn helped him get the ICA job while still only 25-years-old. Warhol had made several paintings with S+H Green Stamps as a motif in 1962 and one of these works was included in the ICA exhibition, but it was primarily as a sly nod to the resourceful young curator that Warhol chose to use the image again as the invitation for the show. Green seized the opportunity and with his natural gift for self-promotion, used it for all it was worth. He had 6,000 copies of the invitation printed, an extravagant number, given that the space could hold only 300, and used some of those that were not mailed out as wallpaper, and as the backdrop for pre-exhibition publicity photos. Then, on the day of the opening, Green made a grand entrance alongside Warhol and Edie Sedgwick wearing a tie silk-screened with the same S & H Green Stamp motif." 968: RUFINO TAMAYO - Proyecto para Mural del Museo de Antropologia (Serpiente II)

Rufino Tamayo (Mexican, 1899 - 1991). "Proyecto para Mural del Museo de Antropologia (Serpiente II)". Mixed media on paper. Composed 1964. Signed lower right. Very light cream wove paper. Good condition: creasing in upper left corner; dimples in lower right edge; horizontal crease upper center visible only in the raking light; creasing lower right corner; no tears, holes, foxing, stains, etc.; composed with pastel, colored pencils, and pencil; presents very well. Provenance: Private collection, Vera Cruz, Mexico. Overall size: 10 x 12 3/4 in. (254 x 324 mm). Lot Note(s): A highly important preliminary drawing for Tamayo's mural for the National Anthropology Museum in Chapultepec Park, Mexico City (pictured as image #2). During the 1950s and 60s he became fascinated with the raw strength of the ancient Aztecs. In this respect, his murals from this period participate in an official valorization of the splendors of México-Tenochtitlán as the historical precedent for the contemporary nation-state. The Mexican government institutionalized this ideology in 1964 when it inaugurated the new Anthropology Museum. Tamayo executed a massive mural commemorating the epic battle between Quetzalcoatl and Tezcatlipoca for the lobby of this building ("Duality" [1964]), thereby securing his reputation as Mexico's most important public artist. Very good to fine condition; affixed to a very thin and supple archival acid-free support sheet. Overall size: 14 1/8 x 10 3/4 in. (359 x 273 mm). Lot Note(s): In 1920 Lissitzky coined the term "Proun"—an acronym for the Russian words meaning "project for the affirmation of the new"—to refer to a series of abstract works that combined the Suprematist lexicon of geometric, monochromatic forms with tools of architectural rendering. Lazar Markovich Lissitzky was a Russian artist, designer, photographer, typographer, polemicist, and architect. He was an important figure of the Russian avant garde, helping develop suprematism with his mentor, Kazimir Malevich, and designing numerous exhibition displays and propaganda works for the former Soviet Union. His work greatly influenced the Bauhaus and constructivist movements, and he experimented with production techniques and stylistic devices that would go on to dominate 20th-century graphic design. The present drawing being offered in our auction is no longer under copyright and the image is in the public domain. [29920-3-8000]

"Portrait d'une jeune femme au chapeau cloche," sold for $59,250 (€44,700) at Christie's, Paris, June 26, 2015, lot #38. He travelled widely in the 1930s and settled in Paris in 1938. There he studied briefly under Fernand Léger and was acquainted with most of the leading artists of the day, including Henri Matisse, Georges Braque, and Max Ernst. Features Hockney's oil on canvas "Harlequin" (1980). Published by the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, New York. Hockney, often referred to as England's greatest living artist, made brilliant contributions to the world of opera as a stage and costume designer. He also designed numerous posters. Beginning in 1975 with his work for Stravinsky's 'The Rakes Progress', until 1990 when he worked on 'Turandot', Hockney worked for the major opera houses. Among his most memorable productions were Mozart's 'Magic Flute' and Wagner's 'Tristan and Isolde'. His collaboration with the Metropolitan Opera on Eric Satie's 'Parade' is best remembered for this poster. The image, with Hockney's neo-pop decor and costumes, showcases a juggler whose contortions fit eye-catchingly into the poster's elongated format. If the opera itself is not so popular, this image has become a classic. [courtesy Nick Lowry, Swann Galleries]. Printed by the Petersburg Press, New York. Poster image copyright © David Hockney. 1009: MEXICAN SCHOOL - Pancho Villa Reward Poster

USD 2,500 - 3,000

Mexican School. "Pancho Villa Reward Poster [original hand-pulled & printed "wanted" poster]". Linotype. Composed 1916. Annotated on the verso: "J.D.A.A. - colección de". Printed on light green wove 'Papel Revolucion' paper, in common use at the time and the same paper used by Arsacio Vanegas Arroyo to produce the Jose Guadalupe Posada broadsides. The full sheet. Fine impression. Overall very good condition, with the expected edge fading common to this type of paper. Provenance: Estate of a private collector, Chihuahua, State of Chihuahua, Mexico. Overall size: 11 3/16 x 8 5/8 in. (284 x 219 mm). Lot Note(s): The verso annotation translates to "Collection of J.D.A.A." José Doroteo Arango Arámbula was Villa's given name before he changed it to the pseudonym Francisco (Pancho) Villa. One of the most famous reward/wanted posters in history. Shortly after the printing of the American version of the poster, it was printed in Mexico and distributed in the northern part of that country by Villa's opponents, in English, as issued, to lend credibility. Because of the ephemeral nature of this type of material, the limited quantities produced, and the use of the extremely fragile newsprint paper, the Mexican version of the poster is rarer than the American, and both are very rare. 1011: JEAN-MICHEL BASQUIAT & ANDY WARHOL - Palladium Presents: Warhol * Basquiat Paintings

USD 5,000 - 6,000

Jean-Michel Basquiat & Andy Warhol (Americans, 20th Century). "Palladium Presents: Warhol * Basquiat Paintings [Variation #2]". Original color offset lithograph. Composed 1985. Signed by both artists in black marker, lower left and lower right. Edition unknown, presumed very small. White wove paper. The full sheet. Fine impression. Very good condition; colors strong; some dimples in the image; pinholes in corners; original folds as issued for mailing. Overall size: 17 5/16 x 11 1/16 in. (440 x 281 mm). Image size: 17 5/16 x 11 1/16 in. (440 x 281 mm). Lot Note(s): Rare. The companion piece to the legendary, iconic, and famous exhibition poster (offered elsewhere in this auction) of two of the greatest artists of the latter part of the 20th Century, standing side by side, perhaps the most poignant and enduring image of the 1980's NYC art scene. Our example is the second variant of the "invitation poster" showing Warhol landing a punch on Basquiat's chin. The second variant is identical to the first variant except for the admission price, which is "Admission Twenty Dollars" in the second variant and "Complimentary Admission for Two" in the first variant. While the poster with Warhol and Basquiat standing side by side (titled "Tony Shafrazi * Bruno Bischofberger Present: Warhol * Basquiat Paintings, September 14 through October 19, 1985, 163 Mercer Street, New York) is occasionally obtainable, the alternative version (our "invitation poster") was issued for a one-night only event at the Palladium (not at the Tony Shafrazi Gallery) and very few were printed. We could locate only 2 auction records of this poster in the past 28 years, with only one of these being signed, which sold for $4,153 (€3,222) at PIASA, Paris, November 23, 2008, lot #413. The photograph is by Michael Halsband who also took the picture for the exhibition poster. Undoubtedly to be included in the forthcoming catalogue raisonne of Warhol's non-commissioned posters by Paul Marechal. The full title of the poster is: "Palladium Presents Warhol * Basquiat Paintings, Saturday * September 14 * 1985 * 10 PM, Palladium, 126 East 14 Street, Exhibition at Tony Shafrazi Gallery, Admission Twenty Dollars.". Fine impression. Fine condition, apparently unused. Literature/catalogue raisonne: Paul Marechal, "Andy Warhol Ephemera... Catalogue Raisonne, 1950-1987." Lyon, France: Les amis du Musee de l'Imprimerie, 2018, Section 10, no.49. Overall size: 2 5/8 x 6 1/8 in. (67 x 156 mm). Image size: 2 3/8 x 5 11/16 in. (60 x 144 mm). Lot Note(s): Rare; signed examples as ours exceedingly rare. No auction records located. On December 3, 1971, Experiments in Art and Technology (E.A.T.) held the "Art Cash Benefit for Television Programming" fundraising event for the benefit of the Community Television Center and the Artist's Television Project at Automation House, New York City. Robert Whitman, Robert Rauschenberg (who, along with Billy Kluver ((the Bell Laboratories technician/inventor/artist)) were co-founders of E.A.T.) and four other artists all designed currency for the event. Art Cash was then purchased with "real cash" by attendees and could be used to gamble at the casino style tables set up for the event, to purchase drinks, buy donated artwork, etc. There were bills in six different denominations: Warhol made the ones, the recto of which incorporates the Warhol rubberstamp "This Photograph May Not Be--Etc." with the recto black; Whitman a three-dollar bill; Rauschenberg $12; Tom Gormley $24; Red Grooms $51; and Marisol $88 (Oyvind Fahlstrom had submitted an image but it was considered too controversial and wasn't used). With the help of Theodore W. Kheel, Art Cash was printed by the American Banknote Company on the same paper used for U.S. currency (though these notes lack the tiny red and blue microfibers present in real bills as an anti-counterfeiting measure). An envelope containing one of each of the six bills was available during the benefit as was a poster showing both recto and verso of all six designs. The bills were never made available in quantity except on the night of the benefit and were to be collected and destroyed at the end of the evening, though patrons obviously decided to keep some as souvenirs. 1037: MILTON AVERY - Nude with Bouquet

USD 12,000 - 15,000

Very good to fine condition; minor skinning verso where hinges removed, else fine. Provenance: Through Mark Rothko; Private collection, New Canaan, Connecticut. Overall size: 10 3/8 x 8 1/4 in. (264 x 210 mm). Lot Note(s): An impressive example of Avery's figurative compositions and possibly a study for an unrealized woodcut. Avery's work is seminal to American abstract painting—while his images are clearly representational, they focus on color relations and are not concerned with creating the illusion of depth as most conventional Western painting since the Renaissance has. Avery was often thought of as an American Matisse. His poetic, bold, and creative use of drawing and color set him apart from the more conventional painting of his era. Early in his career his work was considered too radical for being too abstract; when Abstract Expressionism became dominant his work sometimes was overlooked as being too representational. 1050: RUDOLF BAUER - Non-Objective Solitary Confinement Prison Drawing [No.14]

USD 1,200 - 1,500

Rudolf Bauer (German, 1881 - 1953). "Non-Objective Solitary Confinement Prison Drawing [No.14]". Pencil drawing on paper. Composed 1938. Signed with the initial in pencil (as was his custom), lower left. Drawn on grey/green wove paper. Good condition. Provenance: Estate of the Artist. Overall size: 8 1/8 x 5 5/16 in. (206 x 135 mm). Lot Note(s): Another example of a Bauer prison drawing sold for $6,875 at Doyle New York, November 5, 2013, lot #86. Our drawing is a highly important example of Bauer's rare "prison drawings." Among them, the "solitary confinement prison drawings" are of the utmost rarity. As Wikipedia states, "during his time in prison [1938], he created dozens of non-objective drawings on scavenged scraps of paper." Bauer was in prison for several months. Initially he was held in solitary confinement. He created the present drawing, our example, during the solitary confinement period. He then was moved to the general prison population and allowed to perform office clerking functions. During this time he created yet more drawings, generally more refined and on office stationery, many with typewriter type on the verso. These drawings, while still rare, are obtainable, whereas the "solitary confinement" drawings are virtually unobtainable. The complete text of the Wikipedia article dealing with this period: "In 1938, upon his return from an exhibition of his work in Paris, Bauer was arrested by the Nazis for his 'degenerate' art and for speculating on the black market — meaning selling his work to [Solomon] Guggenheim. The previous year Bauer's work had been included in the infamous Degenerate Art show in Munich, organized by the Nazis to show all the deviant, abstract art. In spite of this Bauer had refused to move from his home country. Upon his arrest Bauer was held in a Gestapo prison for several months, as [Hilla] Rebay and Guggenheim worked to free him. After several false starts, he was finally released unconditionally in August 1938. During his time in prison, he created dozens of non-objective drawings on scavenged scraps of paper. He spent the next months getting his paperwork in order and made the difficult decision to leave his homeland, emigrating to the United States in July 1939, just months before the beginning of World War II." The publication consists of a cardboard box containing artist's publications, multiples, artist's books, etc. by Warhol, Rauschenberg, Ruscha, Nauman, Gormley, Christo, Lewitt, and others. The stated edition size was 1,200 but as Peter Gidal indicates "...rumors abound that the art-box never got made in more than 800 copies, but even the origination gallery can no longer verify it. What is certain is that no "extra" copies of any of the multiples were made, and that the Gormley was in an edition of 200 and the Rauschenberg in an edition of 400. This substantiated the fact that complete boxes could never have been more than 200." Warhol's contributions were printed in different sizes, scales, and mediums. Our example is stamped verso "File Copy - Colorcraft Inc. - Please Return" indicating that it came from the Colorcraft archives. No auction records located. 1126: ANDY WARHOL - Man Ray #2

USD 800 - 1,000

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Man Ray #2". Color offset lithograph. Composed 1974. Signed in black felt tip pen, center left. Edition unknown, presumed very small. Cream wove smooth paper. Printed to the edge of the sheet. Fine impression. Fine condition; affixed to very thin and supple archival acid-free support sheet, not mount/board. Literature/catalogue raisonne: cf. Feldman/Schellmann II.148. Overall size: 8 1/2 x 8 5/8 in. (216 x 219 mm). Lot Note(s): Rare. Issued to promote the 'Man Ray' exhibition at Galleria Il Fauno and Alexandre Lolas, Milan, Italy, in August of 1974. The show consisted of 28 separate images of Man Ray. Apparently there were very small quantities of this lithograph printed for distribution at the opening night reception and they went fast. Printed by Poligrafico Roggero & Tortia, Beinasco/Turin, Italy. In the early 1970s Warhol began to accept regular commissions to paint the portraits of the rich and famous. However, as well as commissions, he also painted a number of portraits of people he admired, especially other artists. Man Ray was one of his heroes, so much so that, when he could afford it, Warhol acquired a number of his photographs, paintings and early books. This image is based on a Polaroid photograph he took of him, cigar in mouth, in 1973. As with the portraits of his mother and other people he felt close to, these portraits of Man Ray are among the most painterly and heavily-worked Warhol ever painted. High-grade archival paper. Ample margins. Fine, quality printing. Very good to fine condition. Overall size: 15 3/4 x 11 5/8 in. (400 x 295 mm). Image size: 9 15/16 x 10 in. (252 x 254 mm). Lot Note(s): This edition authorized and supervised by Doon Arbus. Diane Arbus here visits a public event – in this case a parade – but chooses to photograph a single person rather than document the crowds at the event. But if she hadn't told us in the title that the man was at a parade event, we wouldn't be able to tell – there are no signs of the festivities in this quiet image and, although Fifth Avenue is New York's busiest street, the pavement behind him is empty of people. He holds his hat gravely against his chest, presumably as a sign of respect, but for what cause we cannot know, inviting the viewer to imagine the crowd that is passing behind Arbus's back (courtesy National Galleries of Scotland). Lot Note(s): A rare "flat-print" proof for a proposed "3-D" edition, not intended for sale or distribution. Rizzi was an American pop artist who was born and raised in Brooklyn, New York. While at the University of Florida he came up with the idea of 3D multiples now mostly associated with his name. Having taken classes in painting, printmaking, and sculpture, he had to hand in grade work for all three subjects, but only had time for doing one. So he created an etching, printed it twice, handcolored it, and mounted parts of the one print on top of the other, using wire as a means of adding depth. Printer unknown, edition published by John Szoke Editions, New York. [27754-5-600]

Lot Note(s): This rare letterpress print was published as part of the Warhol portfolio of eight prints which was included in the publication/portfolio "Artists & Photographs" published by Multiples, Inc., New York City, in association with Colorcraft Inc., NYC in 1970. The publication consists of a cardboard box containing artist's publications, multiples, artist's books, etc. by Warhol, Rauschenberg, Ruscha, Nauman, Gormley, Christo, Lewitt, and others. The stated edition size was 1,200 but as Peter Gidal indicates "...rumors abound that the art-box never got made in more than 800 copies, but even the origination gallery can no longer verify it. What is certain is that no "extra" copies of any of the multiples were made, and that the Gormley was in an edition of 200 and the Rauschenberg in an edition of 400. This substantiated the fact that complete boxes could never have been more than 200." Warhol's contributions were printed in different sizes, scales, and mediums. Our example is stamped verso "File Copy - Colorcraft Inc. - Please Return" indicating that it came from the Colorcraft archives. No auction records located. 1163: MAN RAY - Le violon d'Ingres

USD 3,000 - 4,000

Man Ray (American, 1890 - 1976). "Le violon d'Ingres". Original vintage photogravure. Composed 1924. Printed 1933. Signed "Man Ray" and dated in the negative, lower right; stamped with the photographer's name, verso. Edition unknown, presumed small. High-grade archival paper. Printed to the edge of the sheet. Fine, quality printing. Very good to fine condition; affixed to very thin and supple archival acid-free support sheet, not mount/board. Image size: 9 7/16 x 7 7/16 in. (240 x 189 mm). Lot Note(s): One of Man Ray's most famous images, depicting Kiki de Montparnasse. "Man Ray was an admirer of the paintings of Jean-Auguste-Dominique Ingres and made a series of photographs, inspired by Ingres's languorous nudes, of the model Kiki in a turban. Painting the F-holes of a stringed instrument onto the photographic print and then re-photographing the print, Man Ray altered what was originally a classical nude. He also added the title 'Le Violon d'Ingres', a French idiom that means "hobby." The transformation of Kiki's body into a musical instrument with the crude addition of a few brushstrokes makes this a humorous image, but her armless form is also disturbing to contemplate. The title seems to suggest that, while playing the violin was Ingres's hobby, toying with Kiki was a pastime of Man Ray. The picture maintains a tension between objectification and appreciation of the female form." (Courtesy: Getty Museum). See: www.manraytrust.com, pg.8. 1165: MAN RAY - Larmes de Verre (Glass Tears)

USD 3,000 - 4,000

Man Ray (American, 1890 - 1976). "Larmes de Verre (Glass Tears)". Original vintage photogravure. Composed 1932. Printed 1933. Stamped with the photographer's name, verso. Edition unknown, presumed small. High-grade archival paper. Printed to the edge of the sheet. Fine, quality printing. Very good to fine condition; affixed to very thin and supple archival acid-free support sheet, not mount/board. Image size: 6 9/16 x 8 9/16 in. (167 x 217 mm). Lot Note(s): One of Man Ray's most famous and compelling images. "Judging from his inclusion of this image in other photographic compositions, Man Ray must have considered 'Tears' one of his most successful photographs. Like the emotive expression of a silent screen star in a film still, the woman's plaintive upward glance and mascara-encrusted lashes seem intended to invoke wonder at the cause of her distress. The face, however, belongs not to a real woman but to a fashion mannequin who cries tears of glistening, round glass beads; the effect is to aestheticize the sentiment her tears would normally express. Man Ray made this photograph in Paris around the time of his breakup with his lover Lee Miller, and the woman's false tears may relate to that event in the artist's life." (Courtesy: Getty Museum). USD 1,200 - 1,500

Diane Arbus (American, 1923-1971). "Jewish Giant at Home with His Parents in the Bronx, New York [Eddie Carmel]". Original photogravure. Composed 1970. Printed 1978. Stamped with the photographer's name, verso. High-grade archival paper. Ample margins. Fine, quality printing. Very good to fine condition. Overall size: 15 3/4 x 11 5/8 in. (400 x 295 mm). Image size: 10 1/16 x 9 15/16 in. (256 x 252 mm). Lot Note(s): This edition authorized and supervised by Doon Arbus. According to "Gordon's Photography Prices" the auction record for a silver print of this image is $583,500 realized at Christie's, New York, 5/17/2017, lot #25B. This is one of Arbus's most famous pictures and one of her best-known subjects – a 'Jewish giant' named Eddie Carmel. Carmel worked in carnival sideshows and as an actor in monster B-movies. Arbus photographed him a number of times and described the family dynamics: "The parents are orthodox and repressive and disapprove of his carnival career ... When he stands with his arms around each he looks like he would gladly crush them. They fight terribly in an utterly typical fashion which seems only exaggerated by their tragedy." True to her description, this could be a conventional family portrait, were it not for the apparent look of fear in Mrs. Carmel's face as she looks up at her son, who stands cramped and bowed by the traditional family sitting room (courtesy National Galleries of Scotland). A wonderful article on this photograph and the relationship between Arbus and The Jewish Giant can be found here: http://www.nytimes.com/2014/04/13/arts/design/diane-arbus-recorded-a-bronx-family-unsettling-dynamic.html?_r=0. 1197: ANDY WARHOL - Jackie

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Jackie". Original color letterpress print. Printed 1970. Signed in white marker, lower left. Edition of c200. Medium weight light cream uncoated wove paper. The full sheet. Fine impression. Fine condition. Overall size: 11 1/4 x 9 1/4 in. (286 x 235 mm). Lot Note(s): This rare letterpress print was published as part of the Warhol portfolio of eight prints which was included in the publication/portfolio "Artists & Photographs" published by Multiples, Inc., New York City, in association with Colorcraft Inc., NYC in 1970. The publication consists of a cardboard box containing artist's publications, multiples, artist's books, etc. by Warhol, Rauschenberg, Ruscha, Nauman, Gormley, Christo, Lewitt, and others. The stated edition size was 1,200 but as Peter Gidal indicates "...rumors abound that the art-box never got made in more than 800 copies, but even the origination gallery can no longer verify it. What is certain is that no "extra" copies of any of the multiples were made, and that the Gormley was in an edition of 200 and the Rauschenberg in an edition of 400. This substantiated the fact that complete boxes could never have been more than 200." Warhol's contributions were printed in different sizes, scales, and mediums. Our example is stamped verso "File Copy - Colorcraft Inc. - Please Return" indicating that it came from the Colorcraft archives. No auction records located. Provenance: Estate of Seymour Hacker, Hacker Art Books/Gallery, NYC (his personal collection). Overall size: 8 3/4 x 10 7/8 in. (222 x 276 mm). Image size: 8 7/16 x 10 in. (214 x 254 mm). Lot Note(s): No auction records of a signed impression have been located. Auction sales of the unsigned poster include: Swann Galleries, NYC, (Modernist Posters, #2079) - 05/08/2006 - lot#87, realized $4,370; Poster Auctions International, Inc. The poster is printed in brown and ochre, the price "15" added by rubber stamp. The large abstract design, lettering and smaller image have all been printed from separate wood blocks, cut by Larionov himself. His signature appears at the foot of the sheet below the large design. "Arriving in Paris in 1914, Larionov became one of the major figures of the twentieth-century avant-garde, at least in part because of his relationship with Diaghilev, with whom he worked for years at the Ballet Russes. From Fauvism to Rayonism (which he himself founded), he paved the way to the Futurism of Marinetti and for artists like Francis Picabia and Man Ray. With his wife, Natalia Gontcharova, Larionov organized key exhibitions (which has titles such as the Knave of Diamonds, The Tail of the Ass, The Golden Fleece), as well as endless parties, balls, and crazy events in Montparnasse. It is thus quite fitting that he designed the poster for one of the artists' balls of the Union of Russian Artists. Using only two colors, brown and ochre, as well as hand-cut letters, the image suggests smaller yet recognizable versions of the cubist figures and works of art. The poster has a definite flavor of the Paris avant-garde in the 1920s. Very rare." (Nicholas D. Lowry). Image copyright © Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York. [6869-2-1600]

1279: ANDY WARHOL - Flowers

USD 4,000 - 5,000

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Flowers [mailer/invitation]". Color lithograph. Composed 1964. Signed in black marker, lower center. Edition of c300. Light cream wove paper. The full sheet. Fine impression with fresh colors. Fine condition with original folds as issued; bears the original circular black tab (since separated for opening) which held the mailer closed for mailing. Literature/catalogue raisonne: Paul Marechal, "Andy Warhol Ephemera...Catalogue Raisonne, 1950-1987." Lyon, France: Les amis du Musee de l'Imprimerie, 2018, pp.22-23; cf. Feldman/Schellmann II.6. Overall size: 22 x 22 in. (559 x 559 mm). Image size: 22 x 22 in. (559 x 559 mm). Lot Note(s): The mailer was signed by Warhol c.1980 at the request of a friend of Rupert Jasen Smith, Warhol's master printer. This lithograph was published to coincide with the famous exhibition at Leo Castelli Gallery, New York City, November 21 - December 28, 1964. A small number of the impressions were printed as mailers, as our example, with the usual eight folds and without margins. It is unclear if any were ever mailed; our example was not. Since the mailer has the exhibition dates as November 21 - December 17, 1964, we surmise that the exhibition dates were changed after the mailers were printed (but not mailed). Once the dates were changed it's entirely possible that most of the mailers were destroyed. The mailers are rare. The highest auction price we could find of a mailer, and an unsigned example, was a sale for $4,750 at Bonhams & Butterfields, 10/25/2011, lot #400. Printed by Total Color, New York. Published by the Leo Castelli Gallery, New York. Image copyright © Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts / Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York. [28034-5-3000]

We could not find any auction records of a Munakata print created before 1935. In 1926, Munakata saw Kawakami Sumio's black-and-white woodcut "Early Summer Breeze," and decided to work on black-and-white prints. From 1928 onwards, Hiratsuka Unichi (1895-1997), another renowned sosaku hanga printmaker, taught Munakata wood carving. In 1929, four of his prints were accepted by the Shunyokai Exhibition, which bolstered his confidence in the new medium. In the following year (1930), four more of his woodcuts were accepted for the Kokugakai national exhibition, thus establishing him in his career. Image copyright © The Estate of Shiko Munakata. 1299: OTTO MESSMER - Felix the Cat Posing #3

USD 2,000 - 2,500

Otto Messmer (American, 1892-1983). "Felix the Cat Posing #3 [Pat Sullivan Studio]". Pen and ink on paper. Composed e1970s. Signed lower right. Cream colored wove paper. Very good to fine condition with no condition issues. Overall size: 5 5/8 x 4 1/8 in. (143 x 105 mm). Lot Note(s): The closest comparable sale we have found to our example is a sale for $1,912 at Heritage Auctions, April 9, 2015, lot #94002. Messmer created the character Felix the Cat, the world's most popular cartoon star before Mickey Mouse. The attribution has been questioned by some, in part because of the claims of Australian cartoonist, promoter, and producer Pat Sullivan, for whom Messmer worked. The cartoons were unfailingly billed as "Pat Sullivan's Felix the Cat." Sullivan widely asserted that he and his wife had invented a black cat as a film character. Although the two undoubtedly collaborated to some degree, and it is unlikely that the cartoon would have been as popular without Sullivan's promotion, Messmer's biographer concluded that Messmer himself was the creative mind behind Felix, and that assertion is broadly accepted. Finally, most prominent comics and animation historians support Messmer's claim, as do the veterans of the Sullivan studio. Image copyright © The Estate of Otto Messmer. [29878-1-1400]

Provenance: Property of a New York City (Brooklyn) collector. Overall size: 6 x 4 1/4 in. (152 x 108 mm). The "announcement" set is rarely seen – "Gordon's Print Prices" lists only two sales of a signed set, the most recent auction being Swann Auction Galleries, New York City, May 22, 2018, lot #189, realized $6,750 including premium. Edition unknown. Light textured cream wove paper. Wide margins. Fine impression with heavy ink application. Good to very good condition; very minor staining lower margin, not into image. Provenance: Ex-collection Frances G. Doolittle. Overall size: 8 11/16 x 6 3/16 in. (221 x 157 mm). Image size: 6 1/4 x 5 in. (159 x 127 mm). Lot Note(s): We have not found this scarce, vintage print at auction in the past 25 years. The print is from the portfolio Denslow created to illustrate 'The Pearl and the Pumpkin' by Paul West. William Wallace Denslow was an American illustrator best remembered for his work in collaboration with author L. Frank Baum, especially his illustrations of The Wonderful Wizard of Oz. With his profits from his plays and books, Denslow bought a small island in Bermuda, built a "castle" on it, and crowned himself King Denslow I of Denslow Island. He began drinking heavily as his career went into a slump, and spent his last years working for a third-rate advertising agency in New York, drawing postcards, sheet music covers, advertising booklets, and an occasional magazine illustration. In 1915, he unexpectedly sold a cover to the popular humor weekly, Life, went on a bender with the money, caught pneumonia, and died. [26473-1-150]

1327: ANDY WARHOL - Dollar Sign - $

USD 50,000 - 60,000

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Dollar Sign - $ [black marker drawing on laundry bag]". Black marker drawing on green rip-stop nylon laundry bag. Composed 1982. Literature/catalogue raisonne: See Feldman/Schellmann IIC.49 (pg. 304) for examples of screenprints on laundry bags. Overall size: 44 x 27 in. (1118 x 686 mm). Lot Note(s): A unique, classic, and very rare item. Our example is one of only three known original drawings that Warhol executed on a laundry bag, all of the few other bags bearing silkscreened images. The silkscreened bags themselves have fetched as much as $193,000 at auction in the past few years. Beginning in the late 1970s, Warhol and his master printer Rupert Jasen Smith worked together to produce a very small number of silkscreens on green laundry bags. The screenprinted images included those of 'Joseph Beuys' and Warhol's celebrated 'Cow.' Our particular example (unused before the drawing) was probably left over from one of these printing sessions, at which time Warhol drew the image and signed it twice, as well as dedicating and dating it. Warhol's dollar signs are among his "signature" images. Image copyright © Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts / Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York. [29391-7-40000]

USD 1,200 - 1,500

Keith Haring (American, 1958 - 1990). "Crack Down! [pelon]". Colored inks on fabric. Composed 1986. Signed in black marker, upper left; signed and dated in the matrix. Wide margins. Fine impression with vibrant colors. Condition: fine; trimmed a bit irregularly "as issued.". Literature/catalogue raisonne: Gundel/von der Osten 40 for the poster. Overall size: 19 3/4 x 16 in. (502 x 406 mm). Lot Note(s): Extremely rare. No auction records located. Pelons themselves are very rare "practice pieces" for early t-shirt designs. Before production was initiated the image or design was tested on cotton cloth or burlap to determine the color and line accuracy of the piece. The earlier examples, those dating from the 1970s, are generally the only pelons run on burlap. Few of these "tests" were preserved once the design was deemed acceptable and the shirt went into production. The image for the pelon is identical to that of the image for the poster created by Haring (with the exception of the background color, which is mustard yellow in the pelon) at the request of the concert promoter Bill Graham. Graham revisited his old Bronx neighborhood in August of 1986 and, appalled to see that drugs had effectively wiped out the local culture, foresaw a menacing problem in the crack craze. He teamed with David Maldonado to stage a Crack Benefit in the city, but scaled back plans several times since few shared his apprehension. Ultimately, two concerts were held, one at Madison Square Garden on October 31st and the other, an all-Latin show at the Felt Forum, the following night. Overall size: 22 x 17 1/16 in. (559 x 433 mm). Lot Note(s): Scarce, and rare when signed. Only two auction records during the past 28 years located. The poster was created by Haring at the request of the concert promoter Bill Graham. Graham revisited his old Bronx neighborhood in August of 1986 and, appalled to see that the drug culture had effectively wiped out the local culture, foresaw a menacing problem in the crack craze. He teamed with David Maldonado to stage a Crack Benefit in the city, but scaled back plans several times since few shared his apprehension. Ultimately, two concerts were held, one at Madison Square Garden on October 31st and the other, an all-Latin show at the Felt Forum, the following night. USD 3,000 - 3,500

Medium weight light cream coated wove paper. The full sheet. Fine impression. Fine condition. Overall size: 11 1/2 x 7 1/16 in. (292 x 179 mm). Lot Note(s): This rare silkscreen was published as part of the Warhol portfolio of eight prints which was included in the publication/portfolio "Artists & Photographs" published by Multiples, Inc., New York City, in association with Colorcraft Inc., NYC in 1970. The publication consists of a cardboard box containing artist's publications, multiples, artist's books, etc. by Warhol, Rauschenberg, Ruscha, Nauman, Gormley, Christo, Lewitt, and others. The stated edition size was 1,200 but as Peter Gidal indicates "...rumors abound that the art-box never got made in more than 800 copies, but even the origination gallery can no longer verify it. What is certain is that no "extra" copies of any of the multiples were made, and that the Gormley was in an edition of 200 and the Rauschenberg in an edition of 400. This substantiated the fact that complete boxes could never have been more than 200." Warhol's contributions were printed in different sizes, scales, and mediums. Our example is stamped verso "File Copy - Colorcraft Inc. - Please Return" indicating that it came from the Colorcraft archives. No auction records located. Gorky arrived in America in 1920, later changing his name to Arshile Gorky. Image copyright © The Estate of Arshile Gorky / Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York. [29823-2-24000]

Lot Note(s): Undoubtedly a study for a larger work. In the early 1930s Krasner regularly visited the Museum of Modern Art in New York to analyze, absorb and emulate the works of the European Modernists: de Chirico, Miro and Henri Matisse were among her favorites. During this period Krasner was also taking life drawing classes, under various instructors and producing studies of the nude in pencil, conte crayon, ink and charcoal. In 1937 Krasner enrolled at the Hans Hofmann School of Fine Arts and, for the first time, became seriously engaged with Cubism (courtesy National Gallery of Australia). On October 25, 1945, she married artist Jackson Pollock, who was also influential in the abstract expressionism movement. She was born Lena Krassner (outside the family she was known as Lenore Krasner) in Brooklyn, New York to Russian Jewish immigrant parents from Bessarabia. Image copyright © Lee Krasner/ARS. Lam, like many of the most renowned artists of the 20th century, combined radical modern styles with the "primitive" arts of the Americas. While Diego Rivera and Joaquin Torres-Garcia drew inspiration from Pre-Columbian art, Lam was influenced by the Afro-Cubans of the time. He dramatically synthesized Surrealist and Cubist strategies while incorporating the iconography and spirit of Afro-Cuban religion. Image copyright © The Estate of Wifredo Lam. [30170-3-5000]

In 1956, in addition to all the work Warhol was getting drawing shoes and bags, he was commissioned to design Christmas cards for Tiffany & Co. on Fifth Avenue in New York City. Warhol's cards were then published by Tiffany's every Christmas up to 1962, the year he started to exhibit his paintings of soup cans. USD 1,500 - 1,800

Diane Arbus (American, 1923-1971). "Child with a Toy Hand Grenade in Central Park, New York [large format]". Original photogravure. Composed 1962. Printed 1978. Stamped with the photographer's name, verso. High-grade archival paper. Ample margins. Fine, quality printing. Very good to fine condition. Overall size: 15 3/4 x 11 5/8 in. (400 x 295 mm). Image size: 9 15/16 x 10 in. (252 x 254 mm). Lot Note(s): According to "Gordon's Photography Prices" the auction record for a silver print of this image is $511,500 realized at Christie's, New York, 4/6/2017, lot #12. Arbus's direct, confrontational approach to photography meant that her subjects did not always like their portraits. After seeing his, the writer Norman Mailer famously said, "giving a camera to Diane Arbus is like putting a live grenade in the hands of a child". Here the grenade is just a toy, yet Arbus again makes an unconventional portrait of her subject. On the contact sheet, it is evident that Arbus did make 'typical' portraits of the boy smiling, but she chose to print only this unusual shot. He stands stiffly, his hands clenched like claws, with a crazed expression on his face. The portrait seems sinister, yet it could reflect something more ordinary – the exasperation of any child made to stand still and have his picture taken (courtesy National Gallery of Scotland). Signed in black marker, lower left; signed and dated in the plate. Intended edition of 950 (of which all were printed?). High-grade white Chromecoat coated archival paper. Full margins, as issued. The print is very scarce and quite possibly printed in a run of far less than the 950 proposed. The printing was derived from a high-resolution negative produced from the SX-70 camera. In an effort to show that the SX-70 could successfully compete with traditional analogue cameras and film as a fine art medium, the company gave cameras plus a generous stock of film to leading photographers of the day. Their output was then published by the Polaroid Corporation. Image copyright © Helmut Newton Foundation. [24691-3-1200]

1396: ANDY WARHOL - Campbell's Soup - Pepper Pot

USD 4,000 - 6,000

Andy Warhol (American, 1928 - 1987). "Campbell's Soup - Pepper Pot [Ferus Gallery invitation/announcement]". Original color offset lithograph. Composed 1962. Signed in pencil, lower right. Edition unknown, presumed very small. Slightly textured white wove paper with serrated lower margin (as issued). Full margins. Fine, strong impression with bright colors. Good to very good condition: folds as issued for mailing; a few handling creases and spots, not in the image. Lyon, France: Les amis du Musee de l'Imprimerie, 2018 (unknown to Marechal, undoubtedly to be included in the forthcoming revised edition); cf. Feldman/Schellmann II.51. For an extensive coverage of the history and importance of this announcement and its exhibition, please see Kirk Varnedoe's essay 'Campbell's Soup Cans, 1962' in Gagosian Gallery's 'Ferus,' 2002, pp. 44-52. The announcement is illustrated, full page, full color, on pg. 42. The exhibition painting upon which the announcement is based is pictured on pg.129. Overall size: 12 1/4 x 10 in. (311 x 254 mm). Image size: 8 7/8 x 5 1/16 in. (225 x 129 mm). Lot Note(s): A very rare object. "Gordon's Print Prices" records only three sales from 1985 to 2019, all works unsigned, the most recent sale realizing $2,750 at Bonhams New York, 12/6/2106, lot #136. The importance of the Warhol exhibition at the Ferus Gallery and this related announcement cannot be overemphasized. Although the Archives of American Art at the Smithsonian has a total of 32 different Irving Blum and Ferus Gallery announcements, it does not possess this announcement. As Wikipedia states in its article on the Campbell's Soup Cans, "Warhol...showed the work on July 9th, 1962 in his first one-man gallery exhibition as a fine artist in the Ferus Gallery of Los Angeles, California. The exhibition marked the West Coast debut of pop art." Note the differences in our poster and the related painting to the later, true to life, screenprints of the soup cans. As Varnedoe states, "...Warhol added one central, repeated note of expediently pure abstraction in the solid gold disk that utterly ignores the fine black printing actually found on this area of the real label." The most recent pencil signed impression of this mailer that we could find at auction sold for $2,783 (£1,428) at Bloomsbury, London, 11/29/2006. Lichtenstein created a total of seven prints for his three solo Castelli exhibitions from 1963 to 1965. Only two of the seven motifs ('Crak!' and 'Brushstroke') were printed in the usual manner as posters with the text announcing the exhibition on the front. According to Castelli's assistant Ivan Karp, all the Lichtenstein prints were also sent out as mailers up to 1965. However, as Jurgen Doering in his standard catalogue raisonne states, "[In the case of at least two of the seven prints], no mailers, folded with the address of the Castelli Gallery on the back, have survived. Compared to the unfolded prints, fewer mailers have survived, most likely due to the fact they were not regarded as collector's items. If they liked them, people hung them up in the same way they might have displayed posters or invitations, and they were only occasionally regarded as keepsakes." For the Castelli exhibition November 20th to December 16, 1965. Lithographed by Total Color, New York. Published by the Leo Castelli Gallery, New York. Image copyright © Estate of Roy Lichtenstein. In the mid-1960s Warhol carried his consumer-product imagery into the realm of sculpture. Calling to mind a factory assembly line, Warhol employed carpenters to construct numerous plywood boxes identical in size and shape to supermarket cartons. Then he painted and silkscreened the boxes with logos of different consumer products, including Brillo soap pads. When Warhol first exhibited them at the Stable Gallery in 1964 they caused great controversy. In reference to the boxes he later said that he "wanted something ordinary," and it was this mundane, commercial subject matter that infuriated the critics. Shortly after the exhibition, Warhol, from time to time, began to sign actual supermarket Brillo boxes – our example is one of these. 1487: PIERO MANZONI - Achrome #20

USD 120,000 - 140,000

Piero Manzoni (Italian, 1933-1963). "Achrome #20". Kaolin on pleated canvas. Composed 1959. Signed and dated in pen on the stretcher. Fine condition - as painted; unframed. Overall size: 16 x 20 in. (406 x 508 mm). Lot Note(s): Manzoni was best known for his ironic approach to avant-garde art. The foremost example of this is his series of Achromes, which invariably looked white but were actually colorless. In these paintings Manzoni experimented with various pigments and materials. Initially favoring canvases coated in gesso (1957-1958), he also worked with kaolin, another form of white clay often used in the production of porcelain. The kaolin works are generally made from clay covered canvases folded horizontally, depicting folded cloth. These works showed the influence of Lucio Fontana, Yves Klein, Alberto Burri, and Robert Rauschenberg, who had painted neutral white canvases in 1951. Image copyright © The Estate of Piero Manzoni.
