

An impressionist painting of a street scene. The scene is dominated by a long, multi-story building with a reddish-brown facade and several windows. To the left, there are large, leafy trees in shades of green and yellow. The street is paved and leads towards the background where more buildings and a distant landscape are visible. The sky is filled with soft, pastel clouds in shades of blue, pink, and white. The overall style is characterized by visible brushstrokes and a vibrant, somewhat muted color palette.

The present lot was painted over a long period of time. The roses came from the artist's garden in Hastings. The wall in the background is in fact from the Greenwich Royal Park. The Peonies were painted 15 years prior to the completion of the painting and came from the artist's garden on Blackheath. There is a sister painting to the current lot which in 1981 was sat in the artist's studio.

 Chris Burt, Private Collection (acquired from
 Thence by descent to the present owner

In a letter dated 13th June 1992, Mary Spear, the late Ruskin Spear's wife, confirms that it is indeed herself captured asleep in the present lot. She confirms that the work was painted by her late husband soon after they were married, somewhere in the early 40s. A scanned copy of the letter can be provided on request to the buyer.

This intimate and delicate subject matter was one that Spear returned to, capturing his wife Mary throughout their marriage in a series of works.

Ruskin Spear was born in Hammersmith and studied at the Hammersmith School of Art. He continued his studies under the tutelage of Sir William Rothenstein at the Royal College of Art. Spear exhibited at the Royal Academy from 1932 and became a fully elected member in 1954. From 1949 to 1950 Spear served as President to the London Group.

SPENCER FREDERICK GORE (BRITISH 1878-1914)

A GARDEN SQUARE IN CAMDEN TOWN

Oil on canvas

51.5 x 62cm (20¼ x 24¼ in.)

Provenance:

Sale, Christie's, London, Modern British and Irish Paintings, Watercolours, Drawings and Sculpture, 23 November 1993, lot 57

Sale, Christie's, London, 20th Century British Art, 5 March 1999, lot 26

It is my privilege to have observed at close quarters the development of Spencer Frederick Gore, from what I may perhaps call the coming of age of his talent in 1906, to its close in 1914 ... In his painting was made manifest colour, and not merely colours ... He attained to exquisiteness in touch. Expression descended like snowflakes on his canvases, varied, adequate, and economical. He painted with the reticence and the measure of the great gentleman that he was. (W.R. Sickert, Paintings by the Late Spencer F. Gore, London, Carfax Gallery, February 1916.)

Spencer Gore met Walter Sickert in 1904 while traveling in Normandy with fellow artist Albert Rutherston. Sickert was living in Dieppe at the time but moved back to London the following year and took a studio in Fitzroy Street not far from Gore. The two became great friends and an inspiration to each other. In 1909 they both took rooms in Mornington Crescent. Sickert resided at no. 6 and Gore rented a front room at no. 31 from a local vicar. It is believed that the present work depicts Mornington Crescent Gardens. The changing seasons and everyday activities within the gardens became a regular source for subject matter. People sitting, reading quietly, or playing tennis on the grass court, a game close to Gore's heart as his father had been the first Wimbledon Lawn Tennis champion in 1877.

Writing in the New Age Magazine on 9 April 1914, after Gore's sudden death from catching pneumonia, Sickert reminisces that 'There was a few years ago a month of June which Gore verily seems to have used as if he had known that it was to be for him the last of its particularly fresh and sumptuous kind. He used it to look down on the garden of Mornington Crescent. The trained trees rise and droop in fringes, like fountains, over the little well of greenness and shade where parties of young people are playing at tennis. The backcloth is formed by the tops of the brown houses of the Hampstead Road, and the liver-coloured tiles of the Tube Station'. (W.R. # David Bomberg

Searching for 'The spirit in the mass' by Richard Cork

Four years after the cessation of the First World War, which had inflicted a nightmarish amount of suffering on the young Bomberg, he painted Moving Vans. It discloses a great deal about his current state of mind. Both the vans and the horses seem to be wandering, as if unsure of their ultimate destination. The streets around them still appear blighted by the destruction of conflict, and Bomberg himself now felt eager to escape from the beleaguered mood of London, a metropolis which had stimulated him so much before the war.

That is why he left London in 1923 and went to Palestine, where The Man From Hebron shows just how much his work changed in the rush of heat and light which stimulated him there. One figure dominates this painting, surrounded by an expanse of sky. Bomberg summarizes the man's isolated stance and apparel with confident swiftness, but his face is painted in a more detailed way and reveals his stoical attempt to cope with a life of suffering.

The following year, Bomberg focused on landscape rather than people, after accepting an irresistible invitation to visit Petra. The blue sky is even more intense in The Rock Façade, North-East Wall, Petra, and strong sunlight almost carves its way into this formidable rock-face. Bomberg adopts a far more detailed and tightly defined style here, apart from a passage in the lower right corner handled with considerable freedom. The rock façade itself is painted in a more rigid way, as Bomberg responds to his dramatic subject with thoroughgoing commitment.

Back in London, at the outset of the 1930s, he put this approach behind him. Portrait of Ethel celebrates the essential vivacity of the young girl with delightful spontaneity. The freely applied strokes acknowledge the fact that Ethel will not want to stand still for very long. Bomberg makes us feel her playful elan, and the surroundings are defined in brushmarks alive with restless movement. But she is also meditative, and more than a hint of sadness can be detected in her expression.

Bomberg himself enjoyed a similar sense of release when he went over to Spain. Having found immense stimulus on a visit to Toledo in 1929, he was delighted to return five years later. Excited by encountering The Garden and Tower of the Sacristy, Cuenca Cathedral, he chose a very dramatic vantage. It emphasizes the sheer dynamism of the buildings as they thrust upwards, and at the same time Bomberg emphasizes the boisterous abundance of the garden among these architectural elements. The strength of all this green growth makes us imagine that it might soon cover far more of the cathedral's façade, eventually hiding the structure which Bomberg defines here with such aplomb.

One year later, settled now in his beloved Ronda, he witnessed an enthralling nocturnal spectacle. Virgin of Peace in Procession, Ronda captivated him so much that he executed this free, dream-like painting. Although bordering on abstraction, it also responds to the mysterious scene he scrutinised in the very heart of Ronda. The enveloping darkness is punctuated by the luminosity of the ardent figures proceeding through the streets below him. As a result, Bomberg pays a heartfelt tribute to the spell-binding aura of a city he profoundly adored.

Although no figures can be seen in Hills Near Ronda, Nocturne, the painting is still highly dramatic. It concentrates on the moment when the last vestiges of evening light are about to vanish altogether. Very soon, the entire monumental scene will be engulfed in the dark already spreading across these mighty hills – apart from an isolated splash of light enlivening the foreground. Bomberg admired the redoubtable vitality of the landscape around Ronda, yet he was also growing aware of the terrifying and ruthless violence spreading across Spain, forcing him to think about leaving.

In 1937, after returning so unwillingly to London, Bomberg wandered down to the river he knew so well. Substantial buildings can be detected in Thames Barges, but this architecture is silhouetted in the background. He gives the greatest prominence to the barges moored in the water, silently waiting for their next expeditions. So indeed was Bomberg, who may well have identified with their stillness because his roaming adventures in Europe had been abruptly terminated by war. During the same year, at the age of 47, he painted a Self-Portrait with unflinching honesty. Now restricting himself to a very subdued palette, he gazes at his reflection with more than a hint of melancholy. Bomberg misses Spain so much, and frustration can be detected in his facial expression. Even so, he also conveys a sense of obstinate resolve. He is determined to continue his work as a painter despite all the disappointments he had suffered.

By the time he painted Portrait of a Gentleman in 1942, the Second World War had made London life far harsher. So many people were being killed in the metropolis, and a profound sadness is detectable in this sitter's blanched face. Bomberg has even let a drop of white paint run down from the shoulder, like a tear left glistening on his jacket after a bout of weeping. The face in the other Portrait of a Gentleman is warmer in colour, and a handkerchief thrusts out of his pocket with a sense of energy. The pale pigment applied so freely around his head adds to this feeling, and there may even be a hint of a smile in the curve of his lips. Perhaps he is sharing a joke with Bomberg, but the lightheartedness ultimately seems fleeting.

In 1944, after teaching drawing to gun crews in Hyde Park, Bomberg found much-needed stimulus on a Welsh painting expedition. Although the small buildings around the bay's edge look defensive in his painting of Caernafon Bay, North Wales, the long and tragic war was now approaching its final stages. Luminosity is invading the sky as well as the rural sweep of land summarised in the foreground. As he would later show on a fruitful visit to North Devon, Bomberg responded greatly to the interaction between earth and sea. Caernafon Bay seems to be inviting us to make our way down there as soon as possible, so that we can all embrace the freedom offered by the water's refreshing expanse.

Four years later, Bomberg was lucky enough to be given the opportunity, by his generous son-in-law Leslie Marr, to visit Cyprus. Here, in an exuberant canvas called Hills Above Chrisostomas Monastery, Cyprus, the post-war world was celebrated by an artist eager to explore and relish the heat and light around him. The fast-changing sky is echoed by the equally restless countryside below, where Bomberg rejoices in an overwhelming abundance of colour. These hills seem to be festive, as if savouring the beneficence of their exposure to air and sun. Closer inspection of this painting reveals just how much pigment Bomberg lavished on his landscape, enhancing its joyful sense of immediacy. The thickness of paint in certain areas conveys the tactility of the scene, suggesting that Bomberg relished reaching out and touching it as much as possible. Looking at this canvas, we realise just how much of nature's inherent and essential dynamism Bomberg wanted to convey, thereby giving us all a vivid apprehension of what he described, in a very memorable phrase, as 'our search' for 'the spirit in the mass.'

Behind the collection

The collection was carefully curated by Jewish engineer Arthur Abraham Stambois. Stambois lived at Hertford Street in London and was a member of the Eccentric Club. He actively supported the arts throughout his lifetime but particularly during the war years. He attended meetings at the Slade and the Royal College of Art to understand the struggles artists were experiencing during the war. He campaigned for artists and other professionals from the 'arts' to be allowed complete freedom and to avoid the usual routine of conscription.

By 1936, Stambois had purchased six works direct from David Bomberg, which included pieces dated from 1922-1936. On 13th December 1943, Stambois wrote to Sir Kenneth Clark, Director of the National Gallery, to offer six of the works for sale to the National Gallery. Stambois was passionate about the arts and saw a unique talent in the artist. He would go on to purchase the rest of the collection as the works were completed and championed Bomberg's works for the whole of his career.

The collection was sold on privately to Stanley Mann in 1961. Stanley Mann married actress Eithne Maureen Mann, who starred in the films Chitty Chitty Bang Bang and Summer Holiday. Following Eithne Mann's death in 2018 the works passed through her will to her closest friend, the current seller. This will be the first time that the collection has been presented on the open market and out of private hands. It therefore offers a one-off opportunity for collectors around the world to obtain an important work by the renowned artist.

“ Petra was uphill work, entailing much inconvenience, expense and the maximum of annoyance – there was scenery of an extraordinary nature to compensate us for the setbacks. Scorpions, snakes, and lizards, have found a happy home in Petra, and the blue ... lizard who basks in the sun on the rocks of Petra.” David Bomberg, recollections on Petra

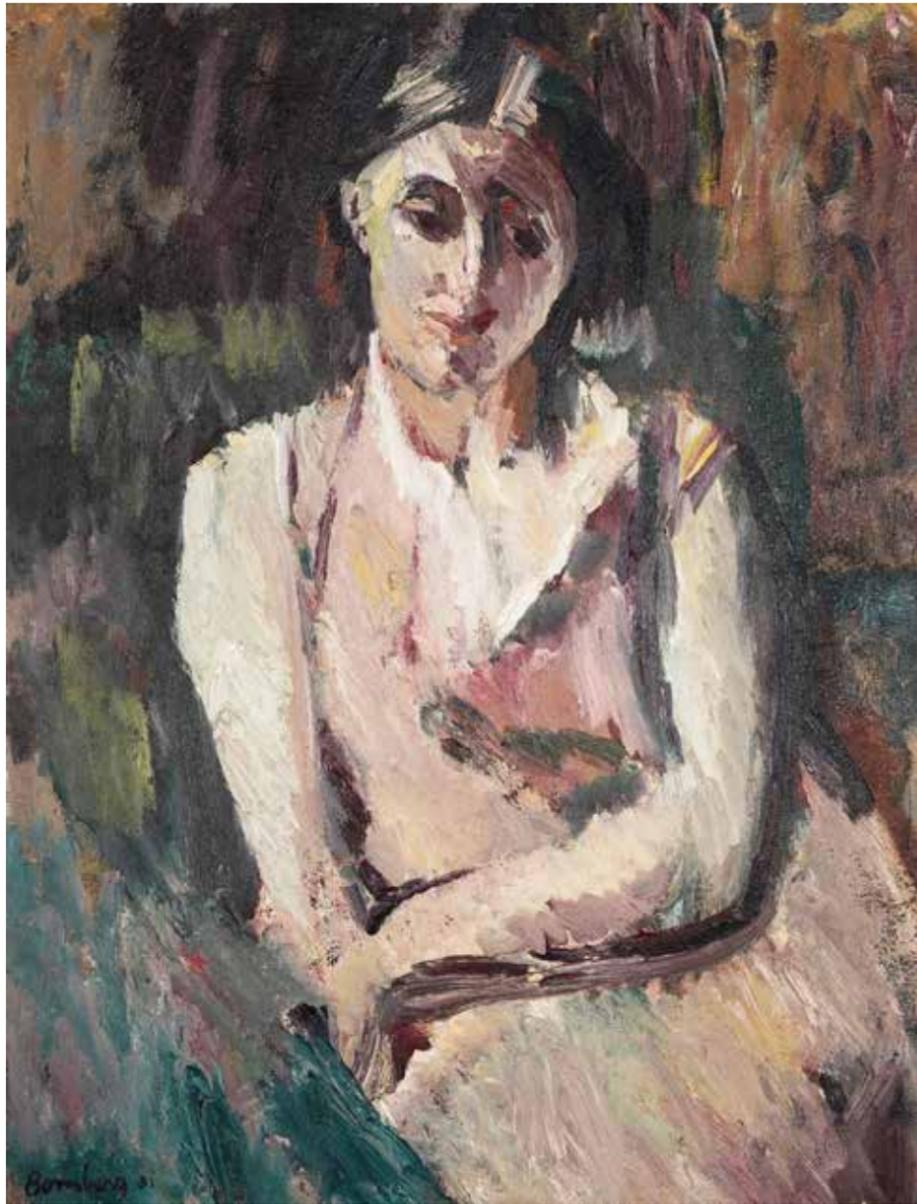

In 1923, Bomberg left London for Jerusalem. Organised by the artist Muirhead Bone and funded by the Palestine Foundation Fund, his brief was to record reconstruction projects in Palestine. Working en plein air he responded to the intensity of the heat and sun he encountered in Jerusalem by creating incredibly precise realistic works infused with a brilliance of light. It was here that he met the British Military Governor of Jerusalem, Sir Ronald Storrs. Storrs became an enthusiastic patron of Bomberg and it was he who funded and organised Bomberg's two expeditions to Petra in 1924. Accompanied by a military escort to protect him against thieves, Bomberg and his wife Alice embarked on this challenging expedition which took several weeks to reach the 'Rose City'.

Working as always, en plein air, Bomberg initially struggled with the sheer scale and monumentality of this city, hewn from rock, feeling "like a tiny ant, labouring along the white riverbed, with all the egotism knocked out me". (Exhibition catalogue, David Bomberg: Spirit in the Mass, Abbot Hall Gallery, July – October 2006, p.82). However, returning for a second visit he overcame this initial hesitancy and went on to create paintings such as The Rock Façade, North-East Wall, Petra. The present work is one of his masterpieces from this extraordinary expedition and so it is unsurprising that Charles Aitkens, director of the National Gallery, Millbank, accepted the work on loan from the collector James Estens in 1929. In fact Bomberg himself wrote to Aitkens on 23rd October 1929 from Toledo referring to this painting:

"By this time I think the painting is at the Tate. I know you have a personal liking for the painting after all. It was a stupendous task to set to Petra, from the start, under the [?] and wildest conditions imaginable to do a hugely finished work. In this respect the picture is unique – it has never been attempted before and it is not likely to be tried again by any other artist"

In the present work Bomberg has managed to masterfully combine the sweeping monumentality of the landscape with the considered detail of the architectural construction. He ineffably transports the onlooker to this magical corner of Jordan through the freshness and immediacy of the paint surface. We involuntarily squint, shielding our eyes from the morning light, taking in the huge, sheer rock face in front of us and out of this red façade the holy temples and dwellings emerge. As they were carved out of the rock, so Bomberg carves them from his canvas through each painstaking brush stroke. All the more extraordinary when one is reminded that this work was not painted in the comfort of his studio, worked up from preliminary studies, but executed in the dusty, rocky, ancient and majestic landscape of Jordan.

In 1935, Bomberg embarked on his second trip to Spain, this time with Lilian. They chose the medieval Moorish town of Cuenca, perched on a limestone spur high above the Huécar gorge. Just as the landscape and architecture had inspired him in his previous trip to Toledo, so the drama of Cuenca compelled Bomberg to find an energy and spontaneity in his work to reflect this stunningly rugged landscape.

Indeed, Richard Cork comments 'If Toledo had provided him with the breakthrough he needed, other Spanish sites might help him reach an even deeper understanding of the natural forces he cherished. In 1934, armed with the proceeds of sales to three Bradford collectors who showed a rare appreciation of his work, he set off with Lilian for Cuenca. Perched high on a rock ridge with rivers on either side, the ancient town provided Bomberg with an ideal interplay with buildings and the landscape they so dramatically occupied. His paintings stress the rootedness of Cuenca's houses, the way they appear to grow out of the rock on which they stand.... town and rock are fused in an energetic mass filled with Bomberg's heightened awareness of a geological conflict between cohesion and stress.... Bomberg's brushwork now strives for a greater breadth, shedding the intricacy of the 1929 work in favour of a more summary and unified approach to form (see Exhibition catalogue, David Bomberg, London, Tate Gallery, 1988, pp. 30-31).

In The Garden Tower of the Sacristy, Cuenca Cathedral, the Cathedral is perched precariously on the cliff top. Dominant and proud, almost hewn from the rock itself. Yet it has a feeling of impermanence; nature looking to encroach and over run the huge structure. There is an urgent energy in the brushstrokes as if the view needed to be recorded before the Cathedral was consumed or collapsed, slipping into the gorge below. As opposed to Bomberg's earlier works in Palestine, Petra, and Toledo this painting shows less regard to capturing the view before him with topographical accuracy but rather a far more subjective approach as he explores the relationship between man and nature, not always in conflict but rather in the shared dualities of ancient and modern, permanent and temporary.

Following Bomberg and Lilian's artistically fulfilling stay in Cuenca they moved South to the town of Ronda in November so that he could continue to work outside.

The setting of this ancient town presented Bomberg with a spectacular opportunity to further explore the rugged geography and improbably built architectural structures balanced and wedged into this landscape. Bomberg conveyed this drama in increasingly vigorous and energetic brush strokes and it is this energy and immediacy that he has distilled into the present work.

Bomberg became interested in the tight, cobbled streets of the medieval town, particularly after dark and in the present work he has depicted the Virgin of Peace being carried through the streets of Ronda during Holy Week. From the vantage point of their first-floor lodgings Bomberg witnessed this mystical nocturnal festival. Lilian and Dinora offered to hold lamps so that he could see more easily, but Bomberg dismissed them, preferring to work in darkness with only the flames from the processional torches to guide him.

The resulting painting is charged with a visceral energy in which the people, the street and the torches become one dynamic whole yet inexplicably the painting maintains a structure and depth. Simultaneously abstract and representational. Indeed, a masterful example of what Bomberg himself described as the "Spirit in the Mass".

Bomberg explored the landscape at night throughout his career. Surroundings that were familiar to him during the day took on completely different artistic challenges after dusk. Painting in Petra in 1924 he described how the “rocks that were known to me from a distance in daylight from above, were now above me at close quarters, cut up by the strangest imaginable shadows, taking terrifying shapes”.

(Exhibition catalogue, David Bomberg Spirit in the Mass, Abbot Hall Art Gallery, 17 July – 28 October 2006. P.82)

The present work has this same feeling of foreboding. As the sun slips behind the jagged peaks, the colours of the terrain are transformed and the atmosphere changes from one of vibrant energy to a ghostly, cool ambiguity that feeds the imagination of the onlooker.

Although Bomberg explored and developed this technically difficult feat of painting at night throughout his career, Leslie Marr remembers the exercise very differently during their painting trip to Cyprus in 1948. He joked that “It always took us such a long time to get ready that by the time David started to paint it was often nearly the end of the day!”

The present work was painted during one of Bomberg's trips to North Wales in 1944 during World War II. There is a palpable feeling of escape in this painting as the artist finds relief from the air raids and urban destruction he witnessed in London as he served as a fire-watcher during the Blitz.

Although the colours are muted there is an openness to the panorama and a broadness to the sky that is rare in Bomberg's earlier landscapes. It's almost as if the work itself is an embodiment of Bomberg opening his arms and filling his lungs with the invigorating fresh sea air. A release from the claustrophobic dangers of London in 1944.

In July 1948 Leslie Marr, student and husband of Dinora, Bomberg's stepdaughter, organised and paid for a painting trip to Cyprus. Bomberg had heard from an old friend and patron, Austen Harrison, about the drama and beauty of the landscape of Northern Cyprus so an adventure, financed by his son-in-law was met with great enthusiasm.

Settling in the village of Lapithos, Bomberg once again felt free and invigorated by the landscape before him. The searing heat and intensity of light infused his paintings with cadmium reds, Prussian blues, chrome yellows and oranges, all vigorously applied in quick, fluid brushstrokes which leap off the canvas. Leslie Marr observed that Bomberg used to re-prime his canvases just before he started to paint in order to create a surface on which his brushes would glide over easily, giving the paintings an immediacy and fluid energy. The resulting impasto in this painting gives a three dimensionality and tactility that implores you to study it up close and immerse yourself in the ridges and furrows of paint, transporting you to the sun drenched mountains of Northern Cyprus.

This was a happy time for Bomberg, surrounded by his close family he was able to immerse himself in the landscape and his painting. When he returned to England he painted nothing for three years, concentrating on his teaching post at Borough Polytechnic until this was terminated and he and Lilian decided to escape London for good to Spain and Ronda, where almost twenty years earlier he had found such positive inspiration in the landscape.

The present drawing is one of Knight's first circus drawings, executed when visiting Swallows Circus at The Agricultural Hall Islington following the recommendation of a railway porter at Paddington Station. Following these early visits, the artist then got to know Carmos Circus, where she sketched and painted her first well known circus works.

A year later, in 1923, Knight also started a new venture in art, making limited numbers of prints. Her first etching depicting a circus scene was called 'Salt and Saucy' and depicted a similar scene to that of the present charcoal. The work was limited to 55 impressions although it is possible that less than 55 were actually printed.

We are grateful to R. John Croft, FCA, the artist's great nephew, for his help in preparing this catalogue entry. The present work will be featured in his forthcoming Catalogue Raisonné of the artist's work.

The present work is one of two known Lennoxlove interiors, painted in September of 1921 when Lavery stayed at Westerdunes, the golfing retreat of Sir Patrick Ford MP at North Berwick. It depicts the dining room of Lennoxlove House, situated just outside Haddington, East Lothian in Scotland. At the time of painting, the estate was owned by the Baird family before being sold in 1946 to Duke and Duchess of Hamilton. The house is currently home to Alexander, the 16th Duke of Hamilton and his family.

Lavery travelled widely in East Lothian during this period, painting landscapes, garden views and interiors at Lennoxlove, Tynninghame and Gullane as well as on the Links.

This may have been one of the works acquired by Conrad Ackner, Lavery's dentist (see Kenneth McConkey, Sir John Lavery's The Dentist, (Conrad Ackner and his Patient), British Dental Journal, January 2011, vol. 210, no 2, pp. 81-85). Ackner owned one of the two pictures, including a Lennoxlove interior, during the inter-war period.

John first travelled to the lagoon of L'Étang de Berre in 1910. He was so enchanted with the region between Marseilles and Arles that he chose to rent a house, Villa Ste. Anne, in the small fishing village of Martigues, nestled on the banks of L'Étang. The family visited frequently until 1928.

For Augustus, the beauty of the translucent sunlight against the shimmering water and pale hills beyond inspired him to embark upon a series of sketches on panel, some studies for larger paintings.

“After a necessary interval spent in observation and experiment, I attuned my eye at last to the marvellous light of this region, and a series of panels attest, I think, to the beneficial effect of it upon my palette”

Augustus John, Chiaroscuro, London, 1952, p. 107

The resulting body of work, forty-eight small oil panels of 'Provençal Studies' of which at least three depicted L'Étang de Berre, was exhibited in London in November-December 1910. In his book on the artist, Michael Holroyd describes how

“The oil sketches at the Chenil Gallery revealed, for the first time, a gift for colour. The pale hills of Provence with their olives and pines and their elusive skies, the summer light across the Étang mysteriously moving with sun and shade, seemed to have brought Augustus into a more vivid contact with nature”.

Michael Holroyd, Augustus John, London, 1996, p. 339

Whilst the present two works (lots 128 and 129) do not seem to have featured in the Chenil Gallery exhibition, they undoubtedly belong to this body of work. Mont Sainte Victoire appears in the background of the painting 'Children Paddling', oil on panel, dating from 1910 (Private Collection), and included in the Tate Gallery catalogue 'Gwen John and Augustus John', 2004, no 59.

De László travelled to Cairo in January 1929 to paint King Fouad I of Egypt and his son Prince Farouk. When the commission was completed, the artist journeyed with his wife and son, Paul, up the Nile visiting Karnak, Luxor and Edfu and Aswan. Unusually, the present work was completed in his studio upon his return to London using a sketch made in-situ.

The present lot is a double-sided study by Sir Alfred Munnings for one of his most important commissions. It began one day whilst sat next to Charles Spencer-Churchill, 9th Duke of Marlborough in the The Other Club, a political dining society that was founded in 1911. Churchill expressed his admiration for traditional composition in painting and how he much desired to commission a hunting picture of himself together with his son Lord Ivor Churchill on horseback and more specifically grey horses as suggested by Lord Ivor. It was decided, and so both Charles Spencer-Churchill and Lord Ivor Churchill made way to Glebe Place in London to sit for Munnings in his studio.

'A signpost to Melton was the thing, we must have a signpost in it ! Changing horses, four greys, with the second horseman in full rig; what a subject ! Mind you put me on the best horse' the Duke exclaimed. The commission is described at length in the second volume of Munnings' memoirs. The work was exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1924 and a review was recorded in an article in the Connoisseur 'More plaudits for the equestrian portrait of the Duke of Marlborough and Lord Ivor Spencer Churchill, but also for the muscular energy and movement of 'The Grey Horse'. The finished piece has remained in the Blenheim Palace collection ever since.

This rare panel depicts three studies of Lord Ivor Churchill in his sumptuous hunting pinks and top hat. Munnings' swift, loose marks plan out the composition, experimenting with different positions of Churchill's head and hands upon the reins. Sir Alfred Munnings has used very light, fast white strokes under the sitter to represent the horse. On the reverse of the panel the artist makes plans for the final composition which features Lord Ivor Churchill on grey horse in the far right corner, Charles Spencer-Churchill in the centre and two further greys with their handler to the left.

The panel's chamfered edge suggests that Munnings was most likely using one of his slotted study boxes to work on the panel either in situ at Blenheim or back in his studio where both Lord Churchill and Charles Spencer-Churchill sat for Munnings.

A number of other studies for this commission are known to have been carried out by Sir Alfred Munnings, four of which came up for auction in 2006 at Christie's New York. However, it is believed that this double sided sketch, which has not been on the market before now, was purchased direct from Munnings by Sir Jack Jarvis, who was knighted for services to racing and was one of the country's leading trainers. The work was then passed through descent to the present owner.

We are grateful to the Curatorial staff at The Munnings Art Museum for their assistance in preparing this catalogue entry.

Reflecting on the sweeping panoramic landscapes of Exmoor, Sir Alfred Munnings is quoted in his autobiography 'An Artist's Life', questioning 'Is this wild country casting its net over me?'. The beauty of the English countryside captured Munnings' imagination and this present lot is no exception. The scudding clouds float along the visible horizon which is lined with shrubs and sheep grazing on the rolling hills of smooth grass. The boldness and momentum of Munnings' brushstrokes create impasto across the surface creating depth to the pasture and foliage. The long shadows linger over the valley in the foreground. Munnings' used both ends of his paint brushes scraping and marking the oil paint across the surface.

The present picture relates to a slightly larger work, entitled A View on Exmoor with Bushes in Blossom, in the collection of the Munnings Museum, Dedham.

Dorothea Sharp (1874–1955)

Dorothea Sharp's reputation has become synonymous with images of children playing freely in nature, beautiful rippling waters and memories of days spent frolicking at the beach. Dorothea Sharp was born in Kent in 1871. At the age of 21 she began her art education at Richmond art school and went on to study at the Regent Street Polytechnic. On arrival in Paris, Sharp was struck by the work of Claude Monet and this was to have a lasting effect. Sharp was a member of the Society of Women Artists and served as vice-president for four years. Sharp regularly exhibited at the Royal Society of British Artists and The Royal Academy during the first half of 20th century, holding her first one-woman show at Connell Gallery in 1933. Sharps' highly impressionist style captured idyllic scenes across Europe but also closer to home where she captured the British coast in St. Ives and Bosham.

Literature:
 Andrew Lambirth, John Armstrong: The Complete Paintings,
 Chichester, 2009, p. 198, no. 407

Armstrong uses the clown as an image of Everyman, and at the same time an opportunity for colour and interest in costume. The tattered umbrella symbolises the inadequate beliefs with which men shelter (or attempt to shelter) from the troubles, problems and confusion in the world. At this date Armstrong was deeply concerned by the threat of global thermonuclear conflict, and much of his work reflects man's blindness to the futility and folly of leadership which could contemplate such an event.

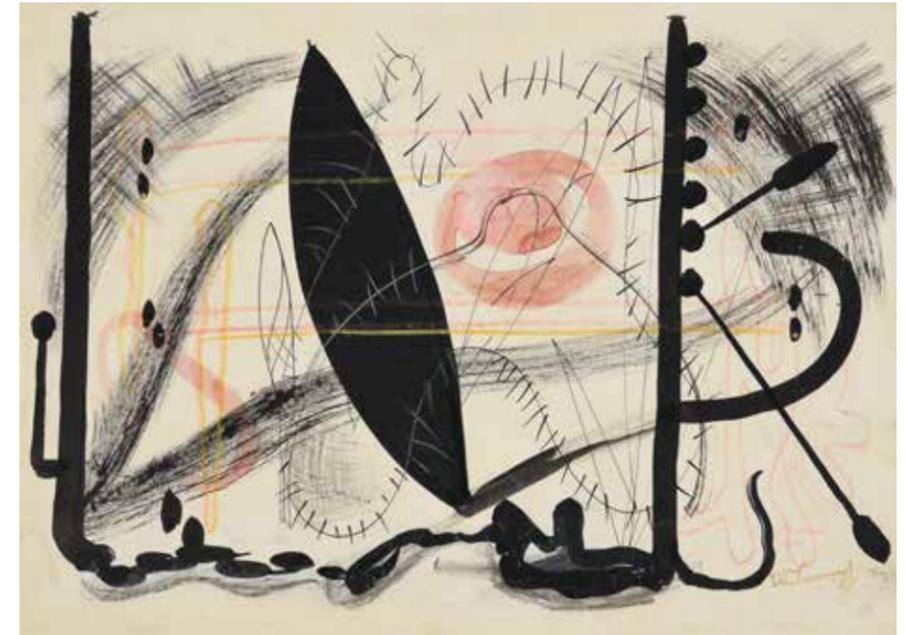

We are grateful Jonathan Gibbs for his kind assistance in cataloguing this lot.

John R. Brown wrote to Graham Sutherland in 1955. In a letter response on 15th September 1955 Sutherland outlines his range of prices for works, tentatively suggesting that Sutherland could do a direct deal of £15 for a 'very small' work. Sutherland invites John R. Brown for tea to his home at Trottiscliffe, West Malling in Kent and provides details on how to make the best journey from London. Sutherland also kindly offered to arrange a taxi to be 'waiting for you at the station (a Mr Johnson)'. It is clear that the artist and patron had a direct relationship and this is likely to have positively affected and influenced Brown's art collection through the years.

CHRISTO (AMERICAN/BULGARIAN 1935-2020)

PACKAGE

Fabric, rope and wood

Signed and dated 63 (verso)

50 x 34cm (19½ x 13¼ in.)

Provenance:

A gift from the artist to the Constantine and Anouska Hempel circa 1967/68 during the artist's stay at the Constantine Hotel in London, which was co-owned by the Hempels.

This work is recorded in the Christo and Jeanne-Claude Archives.

Christo's first packaged objects date from 1958-60 with the project 'Inventaire' which formed a large installation of unmodified, painted and packaged cans, bottles and boxes which filled an entire room. The present work, dating from 1963, is typical of the artist's early 'packaged' creations. These works challenge the viewer's perception and consideration of the object beyond its face value. Through its concealment, Christo not only creates a sense of mystery around the contents, leading us to question the nature what is being hidden, but also changes the function from everyday item to artwork.

Whilst these early experiments with covering and packaging were exploratory and less about what was being covered, they became the basis for everything that followed. As the practice developed, Christo became more interested in the actual object being covered, rather than just the pure sculptural form of the finished 'package'. The obsession with concealing objects, whether they be shoes, magazines, bicycles or buildings became the central theme of Christo and Jeanne-Claude's work.

Born in Gabrovo, Bulgaria in 1935, Christo received his early arts training at the Fine Arts Academy in Sofia between 1952 and 1956. By 1958, Christo had moved to Paris where he met and married his partner and collaborator, Jeanne-Claude. In 1964, year after the present work was created, the couple would relocate to New York which would become their home for the rest of their lives. From these early tentative forays in covering, their vision broadened to encompass some of the largest and most iconic landmarks throughout the world from the Reichstag in Berlin to the Arc de Triomphe in Paris. Their boundless energy sought to realise the seemingly impossible, stamping their mark in the collective memory and redefining what was possible in public art.

Package, 1963 has never been seen on the market before. A gift from the artist during one of his London trips, to renowned hoteliers and designers, Constantine and Anouska Hempel, the work has remained a part of Lady Weinberg's eclectic collection.

Once described as 'the most gifted sculptor working in Britain today' (Charles Sewter in The Manchester Guardian, 1955), Austin Wright's career developed away from the great artistic centres of London, Paris or New York. Working instead in his adopted Yorkshire, his reputation, much like the man himself, was somewhat unassuming. Shying away from the spotlight and eschewing the bright lights of Cork Street, his place in twentieth century British sculpture has often been overlooked and reassessment of his contribution is arguably overdue.

Born in 1911 in Chester, Wright spent his childhood in Wales. He never received any formal artistic training and it was not until his mid-forties, that he was able to give up a career in teaching to pursue his art full time. Early success and critical recognition were forthcoming. In 1955, he exhibited alongside Eduardo Paolozzi, Kenneth Armitage and Elisabeth Frink at an exhibition entitled 'Modern Art in Yorkshire' and was subsequently invited to contribute to 'Younger British Sculptors', an exhibition that toured Sweden in 1956 and also featured William Turnbull, Geoffrey Clarke, Reg Butler and Lynn Chadwick.

Whilst his work has echoes of Moore and Hepworth, Wright pursued his own artistic path and his mature style is uniquely his own. Drawing inspiration from plant forms and the landscape around him, his work is rooted in the natural world. Initially experimenting with a variety of mediums, including concrete, lead, wood and bronze, in the early 1960s, Wright began working in aluminium. He was impressed by the malleability and ductility of the metal which meant that he could produce finer, more delicate forms whilst retaining the strength to be produced on a large scale. The two works in this sale (lots 191 and 192) are both prime examples of his work of this period.

His work is held in a number private and public collections including the Tate Gallery, Arts Council, National Museum of Wales, Cardiff, the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge and the universities of Leeds and York. Significant retrospective exhibitions of his work have been shown at Wakefield (1960), Newcastle (1974), Yorkshire Sculpture Park (1984), Hull (1984) and York Art Gallery (2011).

SPANISH LANDSCAPE
 Oil on canvas
 Signed (lower right)
 122 x 122cm (48 x 48 in.)

Painted in 1964, Spanish Landscape, brings together the gritty expressionism found in Crozier's earlier Essex landscapes with a darker foreboding that was to enter his work in the mid to late 1960s. He had travelled to Southern Spain with the Irish poet Anthony Cronin in 1963 and it is this trip that inspired the present work.

Born in 1930 in Scotland he graduated from Glasgow School of Art in 1953 and naturally gravitated to Soho and the London art scene via the cafes and bars of Paris. Influenced by the European Avant Garde Crozier found early success both in London and abroad. He was awarded the prize of best English artist at Primo Lissone in Milan. In the same year that the present work was painted he was included in the ground breaking 1964 Arts Council exhibition Six Young Painters, which found him exhibiting with Bridget Riley, Dorothy Mead, David Hockney, Peter Blake, and Euan Uglow.

Holland Park Private Residence

TM Slim Light Pro

TM Lighting provided specialist art lighting for Rients Ltd Interior Design and Fuin Real Estate in Holland Park private residence project where a large-scale photographic artwork by contemporary artist Ori Gersht was illuminated. The customised TM Slim Light Pro helps to minimise reflections on the canvas from daylight, while bringing life and warmth back into the paintings.

TM Slim Light Pro

The TM Slim Light PRO has a minimal ø19mm profile, but has the performance of the larger TM Picture Light range, sharing the same conservation friendly true colour LED module (97 CRI). It is complimented by excellent glare control and targeted light distribution projecting down the canvas. The TM Slim Light PRO allows the use of a smaller body without compromising on optical performance. Comfortably lights canvases up to 4 metres in height.

Important Notices

BUYING AT DREWEATTS

There are several ways you can bid at a Dreweatts auction; in person, by leaving a commission or absentee bid, on the telephone where available and live via the internet – please make arrangements before the sale. THIS NOTICE APPLIES ONLY TO A PERSON WHO WISHES TO BID IN PERSON, OR BY LEAVING A COMMISSION OR ABSENTEE BID, AT A DREWEATTS PUBLIC AUCTION. For bidding at an online auction or for online bidding at a public auction please see our Online Auction Terms published on our website at www.dreweatts.com.

BIDDING IN PERSON

If intending to buy you are required to register your name and details at reception prior to the commencement of the auction. You will be required to provide a proof of identity and address to register for bidding. You will then be allocated a bidding number, which you use when bidding for an item.

COMMISSION BIDS

Dreweatts will execute bids on your behalf if you are unable to attend the sale. Commission or absentee bids are accepted either directly at reception, or can be sent by post, fax, email, telephone or via the website: www.dreweatts.com.

Dreweatts will add these bids to the auctioneers' sale book and will undertake to purchase the lots on your behalf as cheaply as allowed by other bids and reserves. If two buyers submit identical commission bids Dreweatts may prefer the first bid received.

Dreweatts does not accept liability for failing to execute commission bids, or for any errors or omissions.

CONDITION

Bidders must satisfy themselves as to the condition of each lot. Condition reports are available on request – see the Conditions of Business at the back of this catalogue forming part of these Auction Terms and Conditions for more information regarding condition reports. Requests for condition reports must be submitted by 4pm on the day prior to the auction; condition reports may be available alongside the lot description on the online catalogue at: www.dreweatts.com.

COMMISSION CHARGES

All purchases are subject to a buyer's premium, which is charged per lot at 25% of the hammer price (30% including VAT) up to and including £500,000, 20% (24% including VAT) of the hammer price from £500,001 up to and including £1,000,000 and 12% of the hammer price (14.4% including VAT) in excess of £1,000,000. A theta symbol (Θ) indicates that the lot is a zero rated item and therefore not subject to VAT on the buyer's premium. This applies to bound books (manuscripts and printed), unframed maps and albums. In the event the lot has a dagger (†) beside the lot number in the catalogue, this indicates that the lot is owned by an entity or company required to pay VAT (generally not an Antique Dealer, as they operate under a dealers margin scheme). VAT is payable at 20% on the Hammer Price. Lots marked with a double dagger (‡) (presently a reduced rate of 5%) or Ω (presently at standard rate of 20%) have been imported from outside the UK to be sold at auction and therefore the buyer must pay the import VAT at the appropriate rate on the hammer price.

PAYMENT

Payment will be accepted, if you are a successful bidder, by debit card issued in the name of the Buyer by a UK bank and registered to a UK billing address; by all major UK issued credit cards issued in the name of the Buyer and registered to a UK billing address with the exception of American Express and Diners Club; by bank transfer direct into our bank account, Bank Details: NatWest, 30 Market Place, Newbury, Berkshire RG14 5AG. Account Name: Dreweatts 1759 Ltd. A/C: 62412949, Sort Code: 60-15-07, BIC: NWBKGB2L, IBAN: GB21NWBK60150762412949. The name of the bank account holder should match the name of the buyer. First time buyers who are not present at the saleroom are requested to pay by bank transfer.

Y CITES REGULATIONS

Please note that lots marked with the symbol (Y) in this catalogue may be subject to CITES Regulations when exported. Relevant CITES Regulations may be found at www.gov.uk/guidance/cites-imports-and-exports.

COLLECTION OR DELIVERY

Before being able to collect your purchases you are required to pay the hammer price, plus the applicable commissions, and obtain a receipt acknowledging payment. Collection of the purchased lots is at the purchaser's risk and expense and whilst Dreweatts do not provide packing and despatch service we can suggest some carriers.

Dreweatts also require that all purchased items are collected within four working days of the sale to avoid a storage charge being applied.

STORAGE CHARGES

All items not collected by 4pm, within four working days of the sale, will be automatically removed to commercial storage and subject to a minimum storage charge of £20 (plus VAT) per lot and to a further storage charge of £2 (plus VAT) per lot per part or full day thereafter. These charges will be the sole liability of the purchaser and will be billed directly to them by Vangaroo Ltd (Andover); Vangaroo may be willing to adjust their charges if they are instructed by the purchaser to deliver to them. On payment of all sales and storage costs, items will be available for collection by appointment from Vangaroo Ltd (Andover), tel: 01264 586566, email: office@vangaroo.co.uk. These charges are set by Vangaroo Ltd (Andover); we recommend that you contact them directly regarding queries relating to these charges and other questions relating to storage. Staff at the saleroom will be unable to answer questions relating to items that have been removed from the saleroom.

FURTHER INFORMATION

The colours printed in this catalogue are not necessarily a true reflection of the actual item. All weights and measures given in the catalogue should be regarded as approximate.

Information for Buyers at Public Auctions

1. INTRODUCTION. The following notes are intended to assist Bidders and Buyers, particularly those inexperienced or new to our salerooms. All of our auctions and sales are conducted on our printed Auction Terms and Conditions, including these Conditions of Sale and Business, which are readily available for inspection and normally accompany catalogues. Our staff will be happy to help you if there is anything you do not fully understand.

Any particular auction and/or any particular lot in an auction may be subject to different or additional terms which will be published in our auction catalogue. All auctions and sales of wines and spirits, jewellery, watches and clocks are subject to the special terms set out in the relevant Notices in relation to those items published in our auction catalogue and, in the event of any conflict or inconsistency, those special terms prevail over any other terms in our Auction Terms and Conditions. By bidding at the auction, you agree to be bound by these terms.

2. AGENCY. As auctioneers we usually act as agents for the seller whose identity, for reasons of confidentiality, is not normally disclosed. Accordingly if you buy at auction your contract for the item or items purchased is with the seller and not with us as the auctioneer.

3. ESTIMATES. Estimates are designed to help buyers gauge what sort of sum might be involved for the purchase of a particular lot. Estimates may change and should not be thought of as the sale price. The lower estimate may represent the reserve price and certainly will not be below it. Estimates do not include the Buyer's Premium or VAT (where chargeable). Estimates are prepared some time before the sale and may be altered by announcement before the sale. They are in no sense definitive.

4. BUYER'S PREMIUM. The Conditions of Sale forming part of our Auction Terms and Conditions require the buyer to pay a buyer's premium on the hammer price of each lot purchased. The buyer's premium is 25% of the hammer price up to and including £500,000, 20% of the hammer price from £500,001 up to and including £1,000,000, and 12% of the hammer price in excess of £1,000,000. VAT at the prevailing rate of 20% is added to buyer's premium and additional charges as defined below.

5. VAT. A theta symbol (θ) indicates that the lot is a zero rated item and therefore not subject to VAT on the buyer's premium. This applies to bound books (manuscripts and printed), unframed maps and albums. A dagger symbol (†) indicates that VAT is payable by the purchaser at the standard rate (presently 20%) on the hammer price as well as being and element in the buyers' premium. This imposition of VAT is likely to be because the seller is registered for VAT within the European Union and is not operating the Dealers Margin Scheme or because VAT is due at 20% on import into the UK. A double dagger (‡) indicates that the lot has been imported from outside the UK and the present position is that these lots are liable to a reduced rate of Import VAT currently 5% on the hammer price. (Ω) indicates that the lot has been imported from outside the UK and these lots are liable to the standard rate of Import VAT currently 20% on the hammer price. Lots which appear without the above symbols indicate that no VAT is payable on the hammer price; this is because such lots are sold using the Auctioneers Margin Scheme and it should be noted that the VAT included within the buyers' premium is not recoverable as input tax.

6. DESCRIPTION AND CONDITION. Condition reports are provided on our website or upon request. The absence of a report does not imply that a lot is without imperfections. The detail in a report will reflect the estimated value of the lot. Large numbers of such requests received shortly before the sale may mean that reports cannot be provided for all lots. Members of staff are not trained restorers or conservators and, particularly for higher value lots, you should obtain an opinion from such a professional. Dreweatts is not liable for damage to gilded picture frames, plaster picture frames or picture frame glass; if a Lot is or becomes dangerous, we may dispose of it without notice to bidders in advance in any manner we see fit and will be under no liability for doing so. We recommend that you always view a lot in person.

We are dependent on information provided by the seller about a lot and whilst we may inspect lots and act reasonably in taking a general view about them we are normally unable to carry out a detailed examination and frequently no examination of lots in order to ascertain their condition in the way in which it would be wise for a buyer to do. Intending buyers have ample opportunity for inspection of goods and, therefore, accept responsibility for inspecting and investigating lots in which they may be interested and the corresponding risk should they not do so. Please note carefully the exclusion of liability for the condition of lots contained in the Conditions of Sale. Neither the seller nor we, as the auctioneers, accept any responsibility for their condition. In particular, mechanical objects of any age are not guaranteed to be in working order. However, in so far as we have examined the goods and make a representation about their condition in the auction catalogue, we shall be liable for any defect which is not reflected in that representation and which that examination ought to have revealed to the auctioneer but which would not have been revealed to the buyer had the buyer examined the goods. Additionally, in specified circumstances lots misdescribed because they are 'deliberate forgeries' may be returned and repayment made. There is a 3 week time limit. (The expression 'deliberate forgery' is defined in our Conditions of Sale).

7. ELECTRICAL GOODS. These are sold as 'antiques' only and if bought for use must be checked over for compliance with safety regulations by a qualified electrician before use.

8. EXPORT OF GOODS. Buyers intending to export goods should ascertain (a) whether an export licence is required and (b) whether there is any specific prohibition on importing goods of that character because, e.g. they may contain prohibited materials such as ivory. Ask us if you need help.

Following the UK's exit from the European Union, private overseas buyers can only receive goods free of VAT/have the VAT amount refunded if Dreweatts acts as exporter in relation to the sale and arranges for the transport of the goods. If you would like us to arrange for the export and delivery of the goods there will be an admin fee of £100 plus the shipping cost. If you arrange for the goods to be picked up/delivered to you directly we will charge UK VAT at the appropriate rate and no refund will be available. Please note that if we export the goods to you, you will be responsible for completing the importation procedures as well the payment of any relevant duty/VAT payable on importation into your country. Business buyers are not affected by this change where the purchase has been made in the business or trading name and a VAT refund will be available on proof of export.

9. BIDDING. Bidders will be required to register before the sale commences and lots will be invoiced to the name and address on the sale registration form. Bidders are required to provide a government issued identity document and a proof of address. Please enquire in advance about our arrangements for telephone bidding.

10. COMMISSION BIDDING. Commission bids may be left with the auctioneers indicating the maximum amount to be bid excluding buyers' premium. Dreweatts will add these bids to the auctioneers' sale book and they will be executed as cheaply as possible having regard to the reserve (if any) and competing bids. If two buyers submit identical commission bids the auctioneers may prefer the first bid received. Please enquire in advance about our arrangements for the leaving of commission bids by telephone or fax. Dreweatts does not accept liability for failing to execute commission bids, or for any errors or omissions.

11. METHODS OF PAYMENT. Payment will be accepted, if you are a successful bidder, by debit card issued in the name of the Buyer by a UK bank and registered to a UK billing address; by all major UK issued credit cards issued in the name of the Buyer and registered to a UK billing address with the exception of American Express and Diners Club; by bank transfer direct into our bank account, Bank Details: NatWest, 30 Market Place, Newbury, Berkshire RG14 5AG. Account Name: Dreweatts 1759 Ltd. A/C: 62412949, Sort Code: 60-15-07, BIC: NWBKGB2L, IBAN: GB21NWBK60150762412949. The name of the bank account holder should match the name of the buyer. First time buyers who are not present at the saleroom are requested to pay by bank transfer.

12. COLLECTION AND STORAGE. Please note what the Conditions of Sale state about collection and storage. It is important that goods are paid for and collected promptly. Any delay may involve the buyer in paying storage charges.

13. λ DROIT DE SUITE ROYALTY CHARGES. From 1st January 2012 all UK art market professionals (which includes but is not limited to; auctioneers, dealers, galleries, agents and other intermediaries) are required to collect a royalty payment for all works of art that have been produced by qualifying artists each time a work is re-sold during the artist's lifetime and for a period up to 70 years following the artists death. This payment is only calculated on qualifying works of art which are sold for a hammer price more than the UK sterling equivalent of EURO 1,000 – the UK sterling equivalent will fluctuate in line with prevailing exchange rates. It is entirely the responsibility of the buyer to acquaint himself with the precise EURO to UK Sterling exchange rate on the day of the sale in this regard, and the auctioneer accepts no responsibility whatsoever if the qualifying rate is different to the rate indicated. All items in this catalogue that are marked with λ are potentially qualifying items, and the royalty charge will be applied if the hammer price achieved is more than the UK sterling equivalent of EURO 1,000. The royalty charge will be added to all relevant buyers' invoices, and must be paid before items can be cleared. All royalty charges are passed on to the Design and Artists Copyright Society ('DACS'), no handling costs or additional fees with respect to these charges will be retained by the auctioneers. The royalty charge that will be applied to qualifying items which achieve a hammer price of more than the UK sterling equivalent of EURO 1,000, but less than the UK sterling equivalent of EURO 50,000 is 4%. For qualifying items that sell for more than the UK sterling equivalent of EURO 50,000 a sliding scale of royalty charges will apply – for a complete list of the royalty charges and threshold levels, please see www.dacs.org.uk. There is no VAT payable on this royalty charge.

Terms of Consignment for Sellers in Public Auctions

The sale of goods at our public auctions and a seller's relationship with us are governed by our Auction Terms and Conditions including these Terms of Consignment for Sellers in Public Auctions and our Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions. Any particular auction and/or any particular lot in an auction may be subject to different or additional terms which will be published in our auction catalogue or separately announced prior to the auction. All auctions and sales of wines and spirits, jewellery, watches and clocks are subject to the special terms set out in the relevant Notices in relation to those items published in our auction catalogue and, in the event of any conflict or inconsistency, those special terms prevail over any other terms in our Auction Terms and Conditions. Please note that our Auction Terms and Conditions including these Terms of Consignment for Sellers in Public Auctions and our Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions relate to auctions held in our salerooms and we have separate terms and conditions for our online auctions.

If you, or another person acting on your behalf, provide goods to us to sell on your behalf at one of our auctions this signifies that you agree to and will comply with our Auction Terms and Conditions including these Terms of Consignment for Sellers in Public Auctions and our Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions.

1. INTERPRETATION. In these Terms the words 'you', 'yours', etc. refer to the Seller and if the consignment of goods to us is made by an agent or otherwise on the Seller's behalf we assume that the Seller has authorised the consignment and that the consignor has the Seller's authority to contract. All obligations that apply to the Seller under these Terms of Consignment for Sellers in Public Auctions shall apply to the owner of the goods and their agent jointly and separately. Similarly the words 'we', 'us', etc. refer to the Auctioneers.

2. WARRANTY. The Seller warrants that possession in the lots can be transferred to the Buyer with good and marketable title, free from any third party right and encumbrances, claims or potential claims. The Seller has provided all information concerning the item's ownership, condition and provenance, attribution, authenticity, import or export history and of any concerns expressed by third parties concerning the same.

3. ALL COMMISSIONS. and fees are subject to VAT at the prevailing rate.

4. COMMISSION. is charged to sellers and all selling terms are available from our salerooms.

5. REMOVAL COSTS. Items for sale must be consigned to the saleroom by any stated deadline and at your expense. We may be able to assist you with this process but any liability incurred to a carrier for haulage charges is solely your responsibility.

6. LOSS AND DAMAGE OF GOODS

(a) Loss and Damage Warranty - Dreweatts is not authorised by the FCA to provide insurance to its clients, and does not do so. However Dreweatts for its own protection assumes liability for property consigned to it at the lower pre-sale estimate until the hammer falls. To justify accepting liability, Dreweatts makes a charge of 15% of the hammer price plus VAT, subject to a minimum charge of £150, or if unsold 15% of our lower estimate. The liability assumed by Dreweatts shall be limited to the lower pre-sale estimate or the hammer price if the lot is sold. Dreweatts is not liable for damage to gilded picture frames, plaster picture frames or picture frame glass; if the Lot is or becomes dangerous, we may dispose of it without notice to you in advance in any manner we see fit and will be under no liability for doing so.

(b) If the owner of the goods consigned instructs us in writing not to take such action, the goods then remain entirely at the owner's risk unless and until the property in them passes to the Buyer or they are collected by or on behalf of the owner, and clause 6 (a) is inapplicable.

7. ILLUSTRATIONS AND PHOTOGRAPHS. The cost of any illustrations or photographs is borne by you. The copyright in respect of such illustrations and photographs shall be the property of us, the auctioneers, as is the text of the catalogue.

8. MINIMUM BIDS AND OUR DISCRETION. Goods will normally be offered subject to a reserve agreed between us before the sale in accordance with clause 9. We may sell Lots below the reserve provided we account to you for the same sale proceeds as you would have received had the reserve been the hammer price. If you specifically give us a "discretion" we may accept a bid of up to 10% below the formal reserve.

9. RESERVES

(a) You are entitled to place prior to the auction a reserve on any lot consigned, being the minimum hammer price at which that lot may be sold. Reserves must be reasonable and we may decline to offer goods which in our opinion would be subject to an unreasonably high reserve (in which case goods carry the storage and loss and damage warranty charges stipulated in these Terms of Consignment).

(b) A reserve once set cannot be changed except with our consent.

(c) Where a reserve has been set which we consider unreasonably high, an unsold charge will be payable in the event that the lots fails to sell, being the agreed selling terms calculated on the reserve, LDW at 15% and any photographic charges.

(d) Where a reserve has been placed only if we may bid on your behalf and only up to the reserve (if any) and you may in no circumstances bid personally.

(e) Reserves are not usually accepted for lots expected to realise below £100.

10. ELECTRICAL ITEMS. These are subject to detailed statutory safety controls. Where such items are accepted for sale you accept responsibility for the cost of testing by external contractors. Goods not certified as safe by an electrician (unless antiques) will not be accepted for sale. They must be removed at your expense on your being notified. We reserve the right to dispose of unsafe goods as refuse, at your expense.

11. SOFT FURNISHINGS. The sale of soft furnishings is strictly regulated by statute law in the interests of fire safety. Goods found to infringe safety regulations will not be offered and must be removed at your expense. We reserve the right to dispose of unsafe goods as refuse, at your expense. The rights of disposal referred to in clause 10 and 11 are subject to the provisions of The Torts (Interference with Goods) Act 1977.

12. DESCRIPTION. Please assist us with accurate information as to the provenance, lawful import etc. of goods where this is relevant. There is strict liability for the accuracy of descriptions under modern consumer legislation and in some circumstances responsibility lies with sellers if inaccuracies occur. We will assume that you have approved the catalogue description of your lots and that your lots match those descriptions unless informed to the contrary. Where we are obliged to return the price to the buyer when the lot is a deliberate forgery under Condition 15 of the Conditions of Sale and we have accounted to you for the proceeds of sale you agree to reimburse us the sale proceeds and in any event within 7 days of our written notice to do so.

13. UNSOLD. If an item is unsold it may at our discretion be re-offered at a future sale. Where in our opinion an item is unsaleable you must collect such items from the saleroom promptly on being so informed. Otherwise, storage charges may be incurred. We reserve the right to charge for storage in these circumstances at a reasonable daily rate.

14. WITHDRAWN AND BOUGHT IN ITEMS. These are liable to incur a charge of 15% commission, 15 % Loss and Damage Warranty and any other costs incurred including but not limited to illustration and restoration fees all of these charges being subject to VAT on being bought in or withdrawn after being catalogued.

15. CONDITIONS OF SALE. You agree that all goods will be sold on our Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions. In particular you undertake that you have the right to sell the goods either as owner or agent for the owner with good and marketable title and free and clear of any third party rights or claims. You undertake to compensate us and any buyer or third party for all losses liabilities, costs and expenses suffered or incurred arising out of or in connection with any breach of this undertaking. We will also, at our discretion, and as far as practicable, confirm that an item consigned for sale does not appear on the Art Loss register, which is administered by an independent third party.

16. DUE DILIGENCE CHECKS AND ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING PROCEDURES. Under the money laundering regulations in force we are required to carry out relevant due diligence checks. This includes verifying the identity of all customers we transact with as well as any beneficial owners on behalf of whom they may transact. Vendors who are unable to or refuse to supply required identification documents and proof of address will not be able to consign to Dreweatts auctions. Copies of customer due diligence checks will be stored for as long as it is necessary to satisfy legal requirements in an appropriate storage facility, which for the avoidance of doubt may include storage solely in electronic form. We reserve the right to withhold the monies owed until the vendor provides the information necessary to complete the anti-money laundering checks.

17. AUTHORITY TO DEDUCT COMMISSION AND EXPENSES AND RETAIN PREMIUM AND INTEREST

(a) You authorise us to deduct commission at the stated rate and all expenses incurred for your account from the hammer price and consent to our right to retain beneficially the premium paid by the buyer in accordance with our Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions and any interest earned on the sale proceeds until the date of settlement.

(b) In case of lots unsold at auction you authorise us at our discretion to reoffer such lots and negotiate a sale within seven days of the auction date, in which case the same charges will be payable as if such lots had been sold at auction and so far as appropriate these Terms apply.

18. WAREHOUSING. We disclaim all liability for goods delivered to our saleroom without sufficient sale instructions and reserve the right to make minimum warehousing charge of £10 per lot per day. Unsold lots are subject to the same charges if you do not remove them within a reasonable time of notification. If not removed within three weeks we reserve the right to sell them and defray charges from any net proceeds of sale or at your expense to consign them to the local authority for disposal.

19. SETTLEMENT. After sale settlement of the net sum due to you normally takes place within 28 days of the sale unless the buyer has not paid for the goods or the checks necessary under the current Money Laundering Regulations have not been completed. In this case no settlement will then be made but we will take your instructions in the light of our Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions. You authorise any sums owed by you to us on other transactions to be deducted from the sale proceeds. You must note the liability to reimburse the proceeds of sale to us as under the circumstances provided for in Condition 12 above. You should therefore bear this potential liability in mind before parting with the proceeds of sale until the expiry of 28 days from the date of sale.

Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions

Dreweatts carries on business with bidders, buyers and all those present in the auction room prior to or in connection with a sale by auction at our salerooms on our Auction Terms and Conditions or Public Auctions including these Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions and all bidders, buyers and others participating in a public auction accept that these terms apply to the exclusion of any terms and conditions contained in any of those person's own documents even if the same purport to provide that that person's own or some other terms prevail. Any particular public auction and/or any particular lot in an auction may be subject to different or additional terms which will be published in our online auction catalogue. Please note that our Auction Terms and Conditions including these Conditions of Sale for Public Auctions relate to auctions held in one of our salerooms and we have separate terms and conditions for our online auctions.

1. DEFINITIONS

In these Conditions:

- (a) "auctioneer" means the firm of Dreweatts or its authorised auctioneer, as appropriate;
- (b) "deliberate forgery" means an imitation made with the intention of deceiving as to authorship, origin, date, age, period, culture or source but which is unequivocally described in the catalogue as being the work of a particular creator and which at the date of the sale had a value materially less than it would have had if it had been in accordance with the description;
- (c) "hammer price" means the level of bidding reached (at or above any reserve) when the auctioneer brings down the hammer;
- (d) "terms of consignment" means the stipulated terms and rates of commission on which Dreweatts accepts instructions from sellers or their agents;
- (e) "total amount due" means the hammer price in respect of the lot sold together with any premium, Value Added Tax chargeable and any additional charges payable by a defaulting buyer under these Conditions;
- (f) "sale proceeds" means the net amount due to the seller, being the hammer price of the lot sold less commission at the stated rate, Value Added Tax chargeable and any other amounts due to us by the seller in whatever capacity and however arising;
- (g) "You", "Your", etc. refer to the buyer as identified in Condition 2.
- (h) The singular includes the plural and vice versa as appropriate.

2. BIDDING PROCEDURES AND THE BUYER

- (a) Bidders are required to register their particulars before bidding by completing a sale registration form and to satisfy any security arrangements before entering the auction room to view or bid;
- (b) Under the money laundering regulations in force we are required to verify the identity of all customers we transact with as well as any beneficiaries on behalf of whom they may transact. Customers who are unable to or refuse to supply required identification documents and proof of address will not be able to bid in Dreweatts auctions. Copies of customer due diligence checks will be stored for as long as it is necessary to satisfy legal requirements in an appropriate storage facility which for the avoidance of doubt may include storage solely in electronic form;
- (c) the maker of the highest bid accepted by the auctioneer conducting the sale shall be the buyer at the hammer price and any dispute about a bid shall be settled at the auctioneer's absolute discretion by reoffering the Lot during the course of the auction or otherwise. The auctioneer shall act reasonably in exercising this discretion.
- (d) Bidders shall be deemed to act as principals;
- (e) Our right to bid on behalf of the seller is expressly reserved up to the amount of any reserve and the right to refuse any bid is also reserved.
3. INCREMENTS. Bidding increments shall be at the auctioneer's sole discretion.
4. THE PURCHASE PRICE. The buyer shall pay the purchase price together with a premium thereon of 30% which shall include VAT on the premium at the rate imposed by law. The buyer will also be liable for any royalties payable under Droit de Suite as set out under Information for Buyers.
5. VALUE ADDED TAX. Value Added Tax on the hammer price is imposed by law on all items affixed with a dagger (†) or double dagger (‡). Value Added Tax is charged at the appropriate rate prevailing by law at the date of sale and is payable by buyers of relevant Lots. (Please refer to "Information for Buyers" for a brief explanation of the VAT position).

6. PAYMENT

- (a) Immediately a Lot is sold you will:
- (i) give to us, if requested, proof of identity, and

- (ii) pay to us the total amount due or in such other way as is agreed by us.
- (b) Any payments by you to us may be applied by us towards any sums owing from you to us on any account whatever without regard to any directions of you or your agent, whether expressed or implied.
- (c) In order to comply with money laundering regulations we reserve the right to require proof of source of funds and/ or confirmation of the nature and source of wealth for all receipts of monies from clients directly or from third parties for payments on behalf of clients. Lots will only be released once we have completed necessary checks under the current Money Laundering Regulations.

7. TITLE AND COLLECTION OF PURCHASES

- (a) The ownership of any Lots purchased shall not pass to you until you have made payment in full to us of the total amount due.
- (b) You shall at your own risk and expense take away any lots that you have purchased and paid for not later than 3 working days following the day of the auction after which you shall be responsible for any removal, storage and insurance charges.
- (c) No purchase can be claimed or removed until it has been paid for and we have completed necessary checks under the current Money Laundering Regulations.

8. REMEDIES FOR NON-PAYMENT OR FAILURE TO COLLECT PURCHASES

- (a) If any Lot is not paid for in full and taken away in accordance with these Conditions or if there is any other breach of these Conditions, we, as agent for the seller and on our own behalf, shall at our absolute discretion and without prejudice to any other rights we may have, be entitled to exercise one or more of the following rights and remedies:
- (i) to proceed against you for damages for breach of contract;
- (ii) to rescind the sale of that Lot and/or any other Lots sold by us to you;
- (iii) to resell the Lot (by auction or private treaty) in which case you shall be responsible for any resulting deficiency in the total amount due (after crediting any part payment and adding any resale costs). Any surplus so arising shall belong to the seller;
- (iv) to remove, store and insure the Lot at your expense and, in the case of storage, either at our premises or elsewhere;
- (v) to charge interest at a rate not exceeding 15% per month on the total amount due to the extent it remains unpaid for more than 3 working days after the sale;
- (vi) to retain that or any other Lot sold to you until you pay the total amount due;
- (vii) to reject or ignore bids from you or your agent at future auctions or to impose conditions before any such bids shall be accepted;
- (viii) to apply any proceeds of sale of other Lots due or in future becoming due to you towards the settlement of the total amount due and to exercise a lien (that is a right to retain possession of) any of your property in our possession for any purpose until the debt due is satisfied.
- (b) We shall, as agent for the seller and on our own behalf pursue these rights and remedies only so far as is reasonable to make appropriate recovery in respect of breach of these conditions.

9. THIRD PARTY LIABILITY. All bidders, buyers and other members of the public on our premises are there at their own risk and must note the lay-out of the accommodation and security arrangements. Accordingly neither the auctioneer nor our employees or agents shall incur liability for death or personal injury or for the safety of the property of persons visiting prior to or at a sale (except in each case as may be required by law by reason of our negligence)
10. COMMISSION BIDS. Whilst prospective buyers are strongly advised to attend the auction and are always responsible for any decision to bid for a particular Lot and shall be assumed to have carefully inspected and satisfied themselves as to its condition, we will if so instructed clearly and in writing execute bids on their behalf. Neither the auctioneer nor our employees or agents shall be responsible for any failure to do so.

- Where two or more commission bids at the same level are recorded we reserve the right in our absolute discretion to prefer the first bid to do so.
11. WARRANTY OF TITLE AND AVAILABILITY. The seller warrants to the auctioneer and you that the seller is the true owner of the property consigned or is properly authorised by the true owner to consign for sale and is able to transfer good and marketable title to the property free from any third party claims.
- Save as expressly set out above, all other warranties, conditions or other terms which might have effect between the Seller and you, or us and you, or be implied or incorporated by statute, common law or otherwise are excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law.

12. AGENCY. The auctioneer normally acts as agent only and disclaims any responsibility for default by sellers or buyers.

13. TERMS OF SALE. The seller acknowledges that Lots are sold subject to the stipulations of these Conditions in their entirety and on the Terms of Consignment for Public Auctions as notified to the consignor at the time of the entry of the Lot.

14. DESCRIPTIONS AND CONDITION

(a) Whilst we seek to describe lots accurately, it may be impractical for us to carry out exhaustive due diligence on each lot. Prospective buyers are given ample opportunities to view and inspect before any sale and they (and any independent experts on their behalf) must satisfy themselves as to the accuracy of any description applied to a lot. Prospective buyers also bid on the understanding that, inevitably, representations or statements by us as to authorship, genuineness, origin, date, age, provenance, condition or estimated selling price involve matters of opinion. We undertake that any such opinion shall be honestly and reasonably held and accept liability for opinions given negligently or fraudulently. Subject to the foregoing neither we the auctioneer nor our employees or agents nor the seller accept liability for the correctness of such opinions and all conditions and warranties, whether relating to description, condition or quality of lots, express, implied or statutory, are hereby excluded. Dreweatts is not liable for damage to gilded picture frames, plaster picture frames or picture frame glass; if the Lot is or becomes dangerous, we may dispose of it without notice to you in advance in any manner we see fit and will be under no liability for doing so. This Condition is subject to the next following Condition concerning deliberate forgeries and applies save as provided for in paragraph 6 "information to buyers".

(b) Private treaty sales made under these Conditions are deemed to be sales by auction for purposes of consumer legislation.

15. FORGERIES. Notwithstanding the preceding Condition, any Lot which proves to be a deliberate forgery (as defined) may be returned to us by you within 21 days of the auction provided it is in the same condition as when bought, and is accompanied by particulars identifying it from the relevant catalogue description and a written statement of defects. If we are satisfied from the evidence presented that the Lot is a deliberate forgery we shall refund the money paid by you for the Lot including any buyer's premium provided that (1) if the catalogue description reflected the accepted view of scholars and experts as at the date of sale or

(2) you personally are not able to transfer a good and marketable title to us, you shall have no rights under this condition.

The right of return provided by this Condition is additional to any right or remedy provided by law or by these Conditions of Sale.

16. PRIVACY NOTICE. We will hold and process any personal data in relation to you in accordance with our current privacy policy, a copy of which is available on our website www.dreweatts.com/privacy-policy/.

GENERAL

17. We shall have the right at our discretion, to refuse admission to our premises or attendance at our auctions by any person.

18. (a) Any right to compensation for losses liabilities and expenses incurred in respect of and as a result of any breach of these Conditions and any exclusions provided by them shall be available to the seller and/or the auctioneer as appropriate.

(b) Such rights and exclusions shall extend to and be deemed to be for the benefit of employees and agents of the seller and/or the auctioneer who may themselves enforce them.

19. Any notice to any buyer, seller, bidder or viewer may be given by first class mail, email or Swiftmail in which case it shall be deemed to have been received by the addressee 48 hours after posting.

20. Special terms may be used in catalogue descriptions of particular classes of items in which case the descriptions must be interpreted in accordance with any glossary appearing at the commencement of the catalogue.

21. Any indulgence extended to bidders, buyers or sellers by us notwithstanding the strict terms of these Conditions or of the Terms of Consignment shall affect the position at the relevant time only and in respect of that particular concession only; in all other respects these Conditions shall be construed as having full force and effect.

22. These Conditions shall be governed by and construed in accordance with English law and the parties irrevocably submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.
